HIGGINS DEFEATS UTTER BY 1,200.

Congressman Granger Wins Over Mayor Dyer.

Rhode Island General Assembly Goes Republican.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 7. Returns from throughout the state early today show that in Rhode Island this year the Democratic party put up a strong fight against the Republican organization. In the gubernatorial race and in the First Congressional fight they were successful, but the Republicans are still in possession of the General Assembly. It is therefore certain that a Republican United States Senator will be elected next term to succeed Senator Wetmore, whose term expires.

Mayor James H. Higgins of Pawtucket, Democratic candidate for governor, was given a plurality of 1,233 over the present governor, George H. Utter of Westerly. This shows a net gain of 6,733 for Higgins over ex-Governor L. F. C. Garvin's vote of last year when Governor Utter was elected by a plurality of 5,195. Complete returns are in from the 156 election districts of the state, showing that the remainder of the state ticket is Republican. Mayor Higgins received 33,102 votes and Governor Utter 31,861.

The Congressional fights in both districts were very interesting this year. In the First district the race was very close. Congressman D. L. D. Granger, Democrat, finally defeated his Republican opponent, Mayor Elisha Dyer of this city, by 721. In the Second Congressional district Congressman Adin B. Capron, Republican, was elected over ex-Governor L. F. C. Garvin by a margin of 2,354.

In the General Assembly battle, around which great interest was centered because a United States Senator is to be elected this year, laurels went to the Republicans. They elected 20 senators against nine by the Democrats. In the house 37 Republican representatives were elected against 35 Democrats. This gives a joint ballot of 65 Republicans and 45 Democrats.

Democracy was successful in this city, P. J. McCarthy, the Democratic nominee for mayor, was elected over ex-Governor Charles W. Lippitt by a plurality of 1,701.

CONNECTICUT REPUBLICAN.

Democrats Successful in Results of Only a Few Local Issues.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 7.—Another tidal wave of ballots cast by the Republicans swamped the Democratic party in Connecticut yesterday, in spite of the vigorous campaign waged by the latter on state issues. For an "off year" the vote was phenomenally large. The Republicans elected their entire state ticket, five members of Congress and once more a senate and house of representatives that are overwhelmingly Republican. The results of a few local issues are the only crumbs of comfort of the Democrats, and these can be briefly mentioned. Senator Allan Paige, the Republican state leader, was beaten in his Senatorial fight in Bridgeport.

The official returns of the election will not be known until canvassed at the opening of the General Assembly, but unofficial revised figures show that for governor Colonel Rollin S. Woodruff received 83,416 votes, while Mayor Thayer received 67,752, the former's plurality being 20,661. Congressman George L. Lilley, who was opposed by the labor unions, received a plurality of 20,868.

On the face of the returns the senate stands 27 Republicans and 8 Democrats, but recounts are likely. President Luther of Trinity College was elected senator from Hartford.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS READ.

Count Boni Professed Undying Love to His Wife.

Countess Treated His Protestations With Scorn.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The court room in the Palace of Justice occupied by the Tribunal for First Instance of the Seine, Judge Dhip presiding, was again crowded today when the hearing of the divorce suit brought by the Countess de Castellane (formerly Anna Gould) against her husband, Count Boni, was resumed.

Maitre Cruppi, of counsel for the countess, in resuming, referred to the reckless fashion in which the count had spent millions of the countess's money, while allowing her only a niggardly few hundred francs monthly. Counsel declared that the proofs of the count's infidelity and cruelty contained in the 13 allegations made last week were sufficient to justify a divorce without summoning witnesses.

After the failure of the attempt at arranging a reconciliation February 1, when the countess was granted the temporary custody of her children, Count Boni began a systematic campaign, writing to the countess letters filled with avowals of sincere repentance, passionate words and professions of undying love.

"You have been my life," he declared in one of his letters, "your absence will be my death. Take me back once more. I will live only for you. Let me embrace you and once more feel you in my arms," etc.

February 25 the countess sent a cold rejoinder, informing the count that she had suffered too much and had lost all affection for him and all confidence in his honor, concluding with the statement that she found him "disgusting."

But the count resumed writing love letters to the countess. The letters continued until the middle of April when the count wrote that he would not long survive, pleading to see the countess and asking here to at least grant him a supreme favor, saying "if I am in danger, come. Do not let me die alone like an abandoned dog."

It was then, said Maitre Cruppi, that the countess, worn out with her husband's insincerity, wrote him three postal cards, one of which read: "My response is the refusal of a respectable woman to see such a libertine." The wording of the other postal cards was equally emphatic, one reading: "Do you think I am so stupid as Madame X imagines?" The last postal card was signed "With my profound scorn."

Maitre Cruppi declared that the count's paternal rights would be amply protected. The children would remain in France and their father would have opportunities to see them and share in the direction of their education.

After recess Maitre Bonnet of counsel for Count Boni began his reply by describing the dreams of luxury of a young American heiress when she married a French nobleman, resulting in making the life of extravagance upon which she entered quite natural to her.

Counsel then read affectionate letters written by the countess to the count excusing her inability to furnish funds because her brother George would not supply them. To show that the count made sacrifices as well as his wife, Maitre Bonnet declared that he had sold his share of the ancestral forest of Boury in order to make the first payment, $80,000, on the Malakoff avenue property. The divorce proceedings, counsel said, were due to the evil counsel of mischief makers, especially to the machinations of Edmund Kelly, the American lawyer, whose object was to obtain a big fee. Without adverse Democratic State Ticket Probably Elected.

Plurality of Hughes Conceded to be 60,000.

NEW YORK, Nov 7.—Revised returns, some of them based on estimates, indicate a plurality of about 135,000 for Hughes above the Bronx. This would make his plurality in the states about 60,000. Corrected figures from Westchester county in favor of Hughes make up most of the difference from the former estimates of Hughes's plurality. Republican pluralities in Albany, Columbia, Cortland, Erie, Madison, Montgomery, Onelda, Onondaga, Rensselaer, Schenectady and Tompkins show Bruce, Republican, for lieutenant governor, about 700 ahead of Hughes. On the basis of 135,000 up state plurality for Hughes, this would seem to show Bruce's election by a narrow margin, but as the Democratic candidates for the other state offices ran ahead of their ticket they appear now to be elected, including Jackson of Erie county for attorney general.

With incomplete returns outside of Greater New York, the result of yesterday's election in New York state, aside from the head of the ticket, was still in doubt today. At 10 o'clock this forenoon there was a possibility that the entire Democratic state ticket aside from governor and lieutenant governor was elected. All the Democratic state candidates ran far ahead of William R. Hearst in the Greater New York and their pluralities here of approximately 140,000 over their Republican opponents may have the effect of overcoming the Republican lead in up state counties. These estimates, however, are necessarily based upon the full state vote for governor and dependent entirely upon the estimate that lesser candidates held with Charles E. Hughes.

On the face of the present returns, Mr. Hughes came down to Harlem river with a lead over Hearst of a little more than 140,000. While this was sufficient to give him a lead of considerably more than 50,000 over Hearst, Mr. Hughes's associates have the far greater plurality rolled up by the remainder of the state ticket to meet.

The closest contest undoubtedly will be between M. Linn Bruce, Republican, and Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, Independence League and Democrat, for lieutenant governor. Chanler's plurality in the Greater New York is about 135,000.

Mr. Hearst apparently carried only two counties in the state outside of the Greater New York. These were Chemung and Schoharie.

While Mr. Hearst succeeded in carrying Kings county by a plurality of 1,561, the returns for the remainder of the state ticket show that his trouble with McCarren cost him dearly. The pluralities in the county for the Democratic candidates who were not affected by McCarren's order to cut Hearst exceeded that of the head of the ticket by more than 30,000. Had Hearst received these votes, it would have cut Hughes's lead in the state practically in half.

Charles E. Hughes, Republican, has been elected governor by a plurality of 51,000, according to figures available at an early hour today. William R. Hearst, his opponent, had a clear plurality in every borough of Greater New York, but the Hughes vote up state overcame this, and left the Republican candidate with the margin of votes already given. Hearst's total plurality in Greater New York with 59 districts missing as indicated by unofficial returns early today was 75,029. Mr. Hearst also polled 611 plurality in two up state counties. Hughes's plurality up state, according to the unofficial returns with 196 districts missing, was 129,656, leaving a total plurality for the Republican candidate of 54,016. The missing districts may vary this general result.

Mr. Hughes received the returns at his home in this city. With him were his father and mother and his wife and three children. When it appeared that Mr. Hughes had been elected he appeared before the reporters who had been waiting and said: "I am very much gratified, but whatever the plurality may be my feeling is not one of elation, but of responsibility."

Mr. Hughes remained up until midnight. He will leave town tonight for Timothy L. Woodruff's camp Kildare, in the Adirondacks, where he will rest for a week or ten days.

William R. Hearst also received the returns with his family at his home. Up to a late hour he said he believed he had been elected. At 2:15 this morning he made a statement in which he admitted defeat, saying that "the people have decided to retain the Republican party in power." He also said that he was "enlisted in this fight against the control of the government by the trusts and corrupt corporations, and I will fight it to the end."

The New York American, in an extra edition, timed at 3 a. m., prints Mr. Hearst's statements, and its editorial columns and in its news columns says Hughes has been elected by 50,000 plurality.

In the interest which centered about the Hughes-Hearst vote little notice was given to the judiciary results by the masses last night. The indicated defeat of the judiciary nominators' ticket in this city, the ticket which was named by a committee of lawyers,

HUGHES ELECTED BY 40,000 VOTES.

Hearst's Plurality in New York City 80,000.

Reform Judiciary Ticket Defeated by Tammany.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—According to incomplete returns from all over the state received up to 10.30 p. m., Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate, has been elected governor of New York state over William Randolph Hearst, the nominee of the Democratic party and the Independence League, by approximately a plurality of 40,000, or more. Two years ago Governor Higgins was elected on the Republican ticket by 80,500.

The reform judiciary ticket, named by a committee of lawyers headed by Joseph H. Choate and former Judge Alton B. Parker, has been defeated, the Tammany and Independence League joint ticket running over the non-partisan candidates by big pluralities.

Some doubt was expressed tonight as to the fate of Democratic and Independence League tickets outside of Mr. Hearst. Several of the New York newspapers which have been supporting Mr. Hughes declared that there was a chance that the subordinate officers of the Democratic and Independence League combination had been elected.

The latest figures indicate that Mr. Hughes's plurality above the Bronx will exceed 11,000. To offset this Mr. Hearst's plurality in Greater New York will probably be from 75,000 to 80,000.

In Brooklyn, where Senator Patrick H. McCarren made a bitter fight against Hearst, the latter carried the borough by a small plurality, probably 4,000. At one time it seemed that Hughes had been successful in Brooklyn, but the late returns were all strongly in favor of the Democratic candidate.

Mr. Hearst was given a majority of nearly 75,000 in Manhattan and the Bronx. Queens county, which includes Long Island City, has gone for Hearst by from 6,000 to 8,000, and Richmond, Staten Island, has also given the Democratic candidate a plurality.

As was generally expected, Mr. Hearst showed his greatest strength in the cities throughout the state and took out of the Republican column a number of the more important municipalities which heretofore have been Republican. Among the cities which gave Hearst a plurality were Buffalo, Rochester, Utica, Troy, Elmira, Rome, Little Falls and Johnstown. All of these except Utica and Rome were Republican two years ago.

Mr. Hughes did not gain a single city. The Republican ticket was successful but sustained serious losses in Syracuse, Gloversville, Amsterdam, Ithaca, Schenectady, Watertown and Plattsburg.

As a result of the scratching and the voting for the same candidates under different party emblems the returns for the subordinate officers on the various state tickets are so complicated as not to be available tonight.

Great interest centered here in New York in the campaign waged for the judiciary ticket named by a committee of lawyers headed by Joseph H. Choate and former Judge Alton B. Parker. The Tammany and Independence League joint ticket has won over the non-partisan candidates by big pluralities.

State Senator Thomas F. Grady of Tammany Hall has been re-elected over Thomas Rock, who has been known in the campaign as "Eighteen Rock," and who claimed he had been [illegible] by the Independence League.

Throughout the state there has been a notable falling off in the vote from 1904, which was Presidential year. The Republican ticket showed the greatest loss in this respect, and especially in the cities.

Mr. Hughes said: "I am very much gratified that I am elected, as now seems to be the case. Whatever my plurality may be, my feeling is not one of elation but of responsibility."

Max F. Ihmsen, chairman of the Independence League, W. J. Conners, chairman of the Democratic state committee, and Mr. Hearst were willing to admit that they had been defeated at a late hour tonight.

Ihmsen sent to Independence League leaders throughout the state the following telegram:

"Urge your watchers to [illegible]. Republican strongholds everywhere withheld. Compel immediate declaration of results. Hearst [illegible]. Don't permit votes to be swindled away by fraud. Fight for your rights [illegible]."

There were many odd turns to the balloting here in New York. It was Richmond borough that defeated Mr. Hearst for mayor a year ago and it was Brooklyn, with a big plurality, which helped him to make the race so close. Mr. Hearst barely carried Brooklyn today and ran far ahead in Richmond. In Schenectady, one of the best organized labor cities in the United States, it was expected Mr. Hearst would have a substantial plurality. The Republican ticket was successful by 374 votes, as against a Higgins plurality of 1,521 two years ago.

While both the state senate and assembly will be strongly Republican, the Democrats are claiming that they have made gains. The complexion of the New York Congressional delegation, it is believed, will undergo but a slight change, if any.

A few minutes before midnight Mayor McClellan sent the following telegram to Charles E. Hughes:

"Accept the congratulations of one who, believing in Democracy, believes also that its highest interests are served by your election."

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, who, with a number of district leaders and candidates, received the returns at Tammany Hall just before midnight, said:

"It is now clear to every one that at Buffalo this organization (Tammany) did nothing more than recognize and obey the demands of the people."

This was Mr Murphy's only comment on the election.

REPUBLICANS CONTROL HOUSE.

Majority in Sixtieth Congress May go as High as 91 Members.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Republicans will retain control of the House of Representatives in the Sixtieth Congress by a big majority. The indications are that they will have 235 members against 117 Democrats, a majority of 91. One Socialist was elected in Illinois. The expected heavy Republican losses in Congress were not realized. In the present House the Republican majority is 112.

The terms of 30 Senators, equally divided between the two parties, will expire March 4 next and legislatures to elect their successors were chosen today in those states which had not already elected. Senators Murphy J. Foster of Louisiana, A. J. McLaurin of Mississippi and Thomas S. Martin of Virginia Democrats, have already been chosen by their respective legislatures for the new terms, and Senators Augustus O. Bacon of Georgia, Joseph W. Bailey of Texas, John T. Morgan of Alabama, F. M. Simmons of North Carolina and Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina Democrats, and Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois, Republican, have been named as their own successors by primaries or state conventions, and it has been decided by primaries that Jeff Davis is to succeed James H. Berry of Arkansas, Thomas H. Painter to succeed Joseph C. S. Blackburn of Kentucky and Robert L. Taylor to follow Edward W. Carmack of Tennessee.

The Republicans of Oregon, who elected a majority of the legislature in August, have nominated Fred W. Mulkey to succeed John H. Gearin, Democrat, who was appointed to fill the unexpired term caused by the death of John H. Mitchell, and have selected Jonathan Bourne for the new term which will begin next March.

In Nebraska Attorney General Norris Browne was nominated by the Republican state convention as the successor of Senator Joseph H. Millard. Senator Robert J. Gamble, who was endorsed by the Republican state convention in South Dakota to succeed himself, may not be elected, as the rival Republican faction captured a majority of the county convention, which made the nominations to the state legislature.

Senator Thomas M. Patterson of Colorado and Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, both Democrats, have announced that they will not be candidates for re-nomination.

The present senate consists of 57 Republicans and 33 Democrats, a Republican majority of 24.

Chairman Sherman at 11:40 o'clock tonight sent the following telegram to President Roosevelt:

"Of nine districts heard from which we classed as doubtful we have reports showing seven Republican and two Democratic. All indications confirm our estimate of a Republican Congress by fully 50."

STUART ELECTED BY 100,000.

Pennsylvania Goes Republican After Most Exciting Campaign.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 6. The most exciting campaign in Pennsylvania in 25 years has ended in a triumph for Edwin S. Stuart (Republican) for governor, over Lewis Emery, Jr. (Democrat and Lincoln party), by a plurality that the Republican leaders claim will reach 100,000.

Aside from the contest for governor and other state offices, the chief interest centered in the battle in Philadelphia for district attorney and in a few of the Congressional districts. Members of the house of representatives and county officers were elected in every county and state senators were chosen in 25 of the 50 districts.

Samuel P. Rotan (Republican) was elected district attorney in Philadelphia by a vote which his friends claim will exceed 40,000, defeating Clarence Gibboney, who had been supported by the reform forces and the Democrats. The incoming legislature will be strongly Republican, although not so overwhelmingly for that party as it was two years ago.

One of the chief issues in the state campaign was the new capitol which was dedicated October 4. The Fusionists claimed that several million dollars of overcharges and duplications are represented in furnishing and equipping the building. The Republican candidates pledged themselves if elected to honestly investigate those charges and to place the responsibility for the alleged extravagance where it rightfully belonged. Of the congressional contests, the hottest was that against John Dalzell, one of the Republican floor leaders. Dalzell was opposed by Dr. R. J. Black, who was nominated by the Fusionists.

There were contests against Congressmen Acheson in the Washington district, Olmstead in the Dauphin district, Lafean in the York district, Lilley in the Bradford district and Dale in the Lackawanna district. Thomas D. Nichols, District President of the United Mine Workers, was the Democratic nominee against Dale. Deemer was opposed by William B. Wilson, Democrat, National Secretary-Treasurer of the Mine Workers.

The state senators elected today will vote for a United States Senator in the session of 1909, when a successor to Penrose will be chosen. The state was apportioned by the legislature at the extra session and today's election was the first under the new apportionment.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

ASSEMBLYMEN-ELECT--MIDDLETOWN.

CHARLES H. WARD, Republican Senator.

HOWARD R. PECKHAM, Good Gov. Representative.

GUILD RE-ELECTED.

Moran Carries Mill Cities but Is Cut in Boston.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—The Republicans, after a short but very spirited campaign, were victors in the state election today, Governor Guild being re-elected by a considerably increased plurality over last year, while his opponent, District Attorney John B. Moran of Boston, the candidate of the Democratic and Prohibition parties and Independence League, received a somewhat larger vote than that given the Democratic leader a year ago. With two-thirds of the state vote tabulated, Mr. Guild's plurality was estimated at 10 o'clock tonight at about 37,000.

The Republicans re-elected the entire state ticket, although Lieutenant Governor Draper fell considerably behind Governor Guild.

The next legislature will be Republican by the usual large majority in both houses, and this will ensure the election of United States Senator W. Murray Crane of Dalton, who is at present completing a brief term, having been appointed by Governor Bates upon the death of Senator Hoar.

The Massachusetts delegation to Congress will remain practically the same, although spirited contests in the Fifth, Sixth, Tenth and Eleventh districts made the result in those sections doubtful at an early stage of the tabulation.

The outcome of the election was a considerable disappointment to Mr. Moran and his loyal fellow campaigners, T. Gerry Brown of Brockton, candidate for lieutenant governor, and George Fred Williams of Dedham. The Moran campaign was handicapped by lack of organization, a meagre campaign fund and opposition from a large number of former leaders.

The vote came from the wage earners, principally, as was shown by the strong endorsement given the Suffolk county district attorney in nearly all the mill cities and other industrial centres.

Governor Guild had the benefit of the regular party organization, which ran smoothly throughout the state. Comparatively little money was used in the campaign in the way of advertising and placard work, and at the polls today the Republicans relied, as did their opponents, on party loyalty as the incentive for the voter to come to the polls.

The active campaigning by Governor Guild and other Republican leaders and the disaffection of a large number of Democrats who openly opposed Mr. Moran's candidacy, resulted in cutting down the Democratic plurality in Boston from 17,435 given Bartlett last year, to 13,052, given Mr. Moran today.

Mr. Moran ran very well, especially in the mill districts, cutting down Governor Guild's plurality in Fall River from 690 votes last year to 6 votes today. The effect of Mr. Moran's speeches in the few cities in which he was heard, was frequently shown in the cutting down of the Republican lead by the increase in the Democratic vote.

The election was one of the most spirited that has been held in this state for a decade, and was exceedingly exhausting to the two candidates. Mr. Moran especially being near a state of collapse at the close of each rally.

Governor Guild expressed himself tonight as very much gratified at the endorsement of his administration, while Mr. Moran, after learning the result, refused to comment upon the success of his opponent.

J. E. STARR HUNT CLEARED.

Mexican Court Holds Him Blameless in Matter of Failed Bank.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 6.—J. E. Starr Hunt, the American for whom a warrant was issued October 27, charging him with fraud in connection with the settlement of the affairs of the International Bank & Trust Company, which failed in 1903, has been acquitted of complicity in the affair. Mr. Hunt, whose whereabouts were unknown yesterday, voluntarily appeared before the court. The charges were brought by the liquidating committee of the defunct bank.

MIDDLETOWN.

Ward, Republican, Elected Senator and Peckham, Good Government, Representative.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The town meeting in Middletown yesterday had its chief interest in the contest between the regular Republicans and the Good Government or Citizens' candidates for senator and representative. This brought out a larger vote than was cast in the last two town meetings where state and Congressional elections were in progress. The total vote for Congressman was 241 and for governor 243. In 1904 the total for Congressman was 212 and in 1905 the total for governor was 171. The town gave the usual Republican pluralities for state and Congressional candidates.

During the day the workers of the Republican and Citizens' parties labored with a determination to win. Automobiles were kept busy carrying to and fro laggard or don't-care voters, without regard to the great posters which are placed at all the crossways, concerning a certain limit of speed at which an automobile shall travel in the town. The day passed off quietly and only 13 voters of the entire number of electors on the list failed to cast their ballots.

The issue was in doubt during the entire day, and even at the close of the polls neither side was able to do more than claim the victory. When the votes were counted it was found that this uncertainty was well founded, as neither side won, or rather each side won one of its candidates and lost the other. The result is as follows:

For senator, Charles H. Ward, Jr., Republicans, 137; Abram A. Brown, Citizens' nomination papers, 121; plurality for Ward, 16.

For representative, Howard R. Peckham, Citizens' nomination papers, 131; Lional H. Peabody, Republican, 120; plurality for Peckham, 11.

On the road proposition, for an appropriation of $800 for a road scraper, road roller and watering cart for use in repairing and constructing the highways of the town, 176 votes were cast, 11? being in favor of the proposition and 76 against it.

The proposition authorizing the issue of bonds for the Metropolitan Park System was rejected by the town by 115 plurality, the vote being: Approve, 28; reject, 143.

TALK BUT LITTLE BUSINESS.

Aldermen Anxious to Adjourn But [illegible] Council in No Hurry.

Deeds to the Railroad Under Discussion—Stone Not Improperly Taken from the Quarry.

The City Council held its November meeting Tuesday evening, on the night of the state election. It was the evident desire of the mayor and the Board of Aldermen to expedite business and adjourn early, in order to hear the election returns, but there was no such spirit evident in the Common Council, and although but little business was transacted it was nearly 10 o'clock when the council adjourned. At that time the full returns of the vote in the city had been received in the city clerk's office and the result was fully known.

The committee on streets and highways reported a resolution directing the city solicitor to execute deeds from the city of Newport to the Old Colony Railroad Company of lands acquired by the railroad company by the act of the legislature in 1860 and the agreement with the city in 1862. This caused considerable discussion in the Common Council, and the matter was finally referred to the city solicitor, to report at the next meeting.

A petition of W. Storrs Wells for reimbursement for the removal of the wall on the westerly side of his estate, on account of the change in the plans for the widening of Coggeshall avenue, led to a temporary disagreement between the two bodies as to whether the petition should be referred to the committee on streets and highways or to a special committee. The contention of Alderman Kelly that a special committee should consider the matter finally prevailed, after a committee on conference had considered the reference of the petition.

The special committee appointed to investigate the charges of Mayor Cottrell that stone had been illegally [illegible] from the city quarry reported that it made a thorough investigation and found that, while stone had been taken it had not been taken improperly. The report was received and there the matter will rest.

There were three absentees at the meeting, Alderman Ritchie in the upper and Councilmen Milne and Butler in the lower branch.

Finance report No. 10 was read and the following amounts were ordered paid from the several appropriations named:

The report of the clerk of the finance committee was read. It showed the credits and expenditures of each department at the close of business Saturday, November 3, less the amounts ordered paid by finance report No. 10, and is as follows:

The committee on streets and highways reported on the communication of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, asking that the city deed to the railroad the lands acquired by the city in accordance with the act of the legislature of 1860 and the agreement with the railroad in 1862; the committee recommended that the necessary deeds be passed. The report also called attention to the fact that the garbage contract will expire in January, and recommended that the committee on streets and highways be authorized to make another contract. The report was received.

Accompanying this report was a resolution directing the city solicitor to execute deeds to the Old Colony Railroad Company, successor to the Newport & Fall River Railroad Company, of the land obtained by the city under the act of the state legislature of January, 1860, and the agreement with the railroad made January 27, 1862, and the city treasurer was authorized to execute and deliver the deed. This caused considerable discussion in the Common Council.

Mr. Rogers said the plat of the land [illegible] in the city clerk's office. The [illegible] has not been transferred, and the railroad company proposes to make some improvements soon it desires to have the property deeded to it. Mr. Sheffield has stated that the company in equity could compel the city to execute the deeds. It might be that the city has executed and delivered the deeds to this property, but if it had the company has no record of them.

Mr. Donnelly suggested that perhaps the proposed action might shut out the city from continuing Marlborough street to Washington, and that the council would be severely criticised if it should give away any rights the city might have. Mr. Mason thought the matter might get the city into a [illegible]. Mr. Finney said he had [illegible] for the old road once, when [illegible] the real estate department [illegible] were rather slack. Mr. J. [illegible] Martin said the committee was [illegible] that the land was given to the railroad with $20,000, and if the [illegible] had not been given they should [illegible]. Mr. Rogers suggested that the [illegible] solicitor would not draw a deed [illegible] would give away anything the [illegible] not give.

[illegible] City Solicitor Brown was [illegible]. He said the matter was not [illegible] his mind and he was not prepared to give a opinion offhand. The [illegible]

HOT SUPPER DISHES.

Substantial Meal at Night Welcome in the Autumn.

Cooked Dishes Which Are Simple in Composition and Made of Ingredients Readily Procurable.

[Cornelia C. Bedford.]

In many households it is the custom to dine at mid-day and serve a substantial supper at night. During the summer season this may well be a cold meal but when autumn lays its chilly hand on the days and snow and wind combine to draw us to the fire, we welcome the meal which promises hot cheer for the inner man. These cooked dishes may be simple both in composition and cooking, and the ingredients for those given here can be readily procured in any section of the country.

Corn Chowder—Put a can of corn through the food chopper. Pare and dice sufficient potatoes to make one quart, parboil them for five minutes and drain. Chop fine fat salt pork to make two heaping tablespoonfuls, put it in a stewpan with one finely chopped onion, and cook slowly until the onion is a very pale yellow. Add the corn, potatoes and one quart of boiling water and boil slowly until the potatoes are tender. Make separately a white sauce with two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one scant teaspoonful of salt, one third of a teaspoonful of white pepper and one pint of milk. Add this to the chowder with more seasoning if needed, cook for a moment longer and serve with crackers.

Cheese Toast—In a saucepan put one tablespoonful of butter and one heaping tablespoonful of flour, one third of a teaspoonful of salt and one quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper. Stir over the fire until melted and mixed, then add gradually one cupful and a quarter of hot milk and stir until smoothly thickened. Have ready a number of slices of thin buttered toast on a hot platter. To the sauce add one heaping cupful or more of grated cheese. Stir until this has melted, then pour over the toast and send at once to the table.

Genoa Ramekins—Cut stale bread in thick slices and remove all crust. Arrange them in buttered patty pans or in one baking dish. For six slices make a raw custard with one pint of milk, two eggs and one quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Baste the bread at intervals with this until it has absorbed as much as possible. Cover with a thick layer of grated cheese and place in a moderate oven until the custard sets and the cheese is melted and slightly browned.

Baked Tripe—Order two pounds of tripe which has been boiled; or wash, then boil it in slightly salted water until perfectly tender. Drain and cut it in two-inch squares. Spread these in a well-buttered dripping pan and pour over one pint of tomatoes (canned or fresh chopped), one large onion cut fine, four tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley and one half of a sweet red pepper cut fine. Add salt and pepper to season and one half of a cupful of melted butter, and bake in a moderate oven for an hour and a quarter.

Breaded Tripe—Cut boiled tripe in pieces two by three inches. Dip each into slightly beaten egg, roll in fine, sifted, dry bread crumbs and fry golden brown in deep, smoking-hot fat. Drain on paper and serve with cold slaw.

Rice, Ham and Tomatoes—Chop fine sufficient cold boiled ham to make a scant cupful. Make a generous pint of tomato sauce slightly seasoned with onion. Wash one cupful of rice and drop it into a kettle of rapidly boiling water. Add a scant teaspoonful of salt and boil hard until the grains are tender; this will take from 15 to 20 minutes according to the kind of rice used. When done drain and spread half of the rice on a hot platter. Sprinkle with half the ham and a few spoonfuls of the hot sauce. Add the remaining rice, the ham, a little of the sauce and a tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley. Pour the rest of the sauce round the rice and serve quickly.

Scalloped Potatoes—Peel potatoes and cut in thin slices. Cover with boiling water, boil for one minute, then drain. Place in layers in a baking dish, seasoning highly with salt and pepper. Pour in hot milk until the liquid can just be seen through the top layer. Dot with a tablespoonful or more of butter cut in bits, cover closely and place in a moderate oven. The potatoes will be tender in an hour, more or less, according to the depth in the dish; uncover when nearly done, that the top may brown.

Vegetable Ragout—Earlier in the day dice a heaping cupful each of carrot and white turnip; boil separately in salted water until tender, then drain. Open and drain a can of peas; drain. Dice a cupful and a half of potatoes. Boil the latter until barely tender. Brown three heaping tablespoonfuls of flour in three tablespoonfuls of butter or drippings; add gradually a pint and a half of water or soup stock and stir until thick and smooth. Season with salt, pepper, a little onion juice and half of a lump of sugar. Add all the vegetables, simmer together for 10 minutes and serve sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Eggs a la Caracas—Grate or chop very fine two ounces of smoked beef. Add one cupful of thick, canned tomatoes, one quarter of a cupful of grated cheese, 10 drops of onion juice, one eighth of a teaspoonful of cinnamon and a dash of cayenne. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add this mixture and cook slowly until smoking hot. Turn in quickly three well beaten eggs, stir until a thick cream and serve on thin slices of toast.

"THE PASS."

Interesting Account of Modern American Pioneering, by Stewart Edward White.

Newporters will be interested in reading "The Pass," when it is remembered that the author, Stewart Edward White, married Miss Elizabeth Grant of this city. Mrs. White appears in the book under the name of "Billy," and for her the pass was named—Elizabeth Pass, she having the honor of being the first woman to traverse it. It is not a story, or novel, but rather an account, or sketch of modern American pioneering. Mr. White, in an afterword, modestly says that he does not consider the opening of the pass an extraordinary feat, as anybody could have done it, but that he has tried to show "how such things are undertaken, and to tell of the joys and petty but real difficulties to be met with on such an expedition." The book is written in a clear and lucid style, beautiful in its simplicity, while the subject matter is of such a character as will interest all lovers of outdoor life, especially those who have the itch for exploration.

The little party of three, including Billy, with packhorses and dogs, started for the Roaring River country, a section practically unvisited. The hardships, the difficulties and the slow progress made the travelers only more determined to reach their goal. When they came to the "saddle," which they christened Elizabeth Pass, they thought their troubles were over, but they found still more obstacles to conquer before they came upon the trail—when they "stepped from the great shining land of adventure and high emprise to the every-day life of the many other travelers who had worn deep the furrow."

Incidentally Mr. White has a good word to say for the forest ranger. He describes this official as often suffering under many handicaps, due to the red tape of the government. These men have few tools for making repairs and for building new trails, and often improve their districts at their own expense, receiving little help from the Washington authorities, who do not realize the importance of the work. Besides the building of trails, the fire patrol and the protection of game, the ranger has many other duties, and is regarded by Mr. White as the "true pioneer of a vast and rich country."

The volume is a fine specimen of the book maker's art, with pretty little sketches on the margin of each page, while the frontispiece is in color, by Fernand Lungren, and the other illustrations are from photographs.

"FAME IS A FOOD THAT DEAD MEN EAT."

[Austin Dobson, in the Century.]

Fame is a food that dead men eat—
I have no stomach for such meat.
In little light and narrow room,
They eat it in the silent tomb,
With no kind voice of comrade near

Of Friendship it is good to sing.

FALL NEST BUILDING.

[St. Nicholas.]

We are apt to think that birds build only in spring or in summer, because that is their "natural" season and because their ancestors did so. But have you never thought that perhaps the heat or the mildness of the weather may have a direct influence, and may actually invite them to build? Here is a little incident which I saw last year, and which seems to point in that direction.

September 21 was springlike in temperature; a fine rain was falling, and I was afield, watching a host of small migrants, chiefly myrtle warblers and sparrows, but especially interested in the movements of some young goldfinches that were learning to feed on thistles. About a cavity in an old apple tree were four bluebirds hovering and warbling. Looking more closely I noted that each pair seemed trying to get possession of the hollow as I have seen them fighting for a nesting place in spring. But to my astonishment one male had a straw in his bill. He went into the hollow, tarried for awhile, and returned without the straw. Then the female went in and stayed for several minutes. The birds were so much interested that I went to within a few yards of them before they left. In the hollow was the foundation of a nest.

A bird called the pine siskin, which I caught one day, and which roamed about the house, found an old vireo's nest and at once took possession, pulling and picking curiously at the loose fibres as if to arrange them to a siskin's taste. I have also seen a pair of waxwings gather nesting material when it seemed too late in the season even for them. Perhaps further study of the birds in the fine autumn weather [illegible]

ADVANTAGES GAINED FROM NEW INSURANCE LAWS.

All the provisions of the insurance law of New York have been directed against the flagrant abuses which were disclosed by the legislative investigating committee. If they are enforced—and we are confident that the aroused opinion of the policy holder will insist upon their enforcement—they could afford ample protection to the policy holder's interest, and make it impossible for any set of directors and officers to abuse the trust which is imposed in them. The great surplus of the companies will no longer be used to assist syndicates, to carry on stock market campaigns or to swell the campaign chest of unscrupulous party managers. Exorbitant salaries will no longer be paid, and rebating, that most despicable of all unclean practices in life insurance, if not entirely stopped, will be greatly lessened.

The policy holders will be fully informed each year concerning the management of their companies, they will in the future, be protected by improved forms of contract and by provisions which force the companies, in the interpretation of these contracts, to deal with them fairly and not according to the strict letter of the instrument; finally, the policy holder is, by this legislation, restored to power, and machinery is provided whereby his vote may be given full force and effect.

TEN PAGES.

NO NORTHWEST PASSAGE WANTED.

Captain Amundsen has provided the world with a northwest passage, only to learn that there is no commercial demand for such a thoroughfare and that the British government has withdrawn its promised reward of $100,000 for the discovery. We do not suppose the hardy Norwegian is disappointed at this withdrawal, probably he knew about it before he went north. At any rate he wasn't hunting for the passage, but for the magnetic pole, and his discovery of the passage was more an accident than the result of deliberate search.

There was a time when a northwest passage was supposed to be important. Possibly it is shorter than the road to Asia by way of Cape Horn or the Cape of Good Hope. Yet even if it had been discovered while the need was felt it is doubtful if it would have proved useful. It must always have been impassable much of the year and dangerous the rest on account of ice, while the two southern routes are never closed and that around the Cape of Good Hope is not difficult or dangerous. Vessels going around South America are pretty certain to encounter heavy weather, but the route is not especially dangerous, and while longer of course than a route around the northern end of the continent for the northern nations of Europe it must unquestionably be more expeditious and vastly safer.

The trans-continental railroads across the United States, Canada and Mexico have left little occasion for the northwest passage so long searched for by Arctic explorers. The Suez canal has so completely supplemented the railroads that the commercial need of a Panama canal is dubious, but we are going to make it, and with these railroads and canals the last possible occasion for desiring a northwest passage has disappeared.

THE FAILURE OF THE RAILROADS.

The railroads of the country have a serious problem to solve, for they are confessedly unable to keep pace in their equipment with the rapid and enormous growth of their traffic. The officials of the companies declare that they have ordered more machinery than ever before in the history of railroading and there is no reason to doubt the truth of the assertion, but in spite of this the equipment has fallen far behind the demands of the traffic. The fact is that the business of the railroads, both passenger and freight, has been increasing of late years three times as rapidly as the [illegible] of rolling stock and [illegible]. In the last ten years the volume of freight has grown [illegible] per cent while in the same period the increase in equipment for the transfer of that freight has been less than [illegible] per cent.

It is [illegible] to nobody that such a rapid development of the railroad business and such a remarkable demand for traveling and freight facilities has been a surprise even to the officials of the roads, and that they were quite unprepared to take advantage of such sudden and unexpected demands upon them. For this reason it is not to be wondered that it has been impossible for the companies to secure as fast as it was needed the material for the construction of all the rolling stock, and so to this extent at least they are not open to the charge of either indifference or inactivity. At the same time it ought to be possible for the railroads to keep their equipment up to the average requirement, even if they cannot be expected to provide sufficient for the maximum needs of the traffic.

It must be remembered that upon the railroad interests of this country depends practically the material life of the nation, for without them industrial stagnation would soon be experienced and financial ruin and extreme suffering would quickly follow in its train. Before the days of railroads there was little incentive for the farmer to raise bumper crops, as they could not be marketed, and manufacturing establishments were comparatively few, because there was only a local demand for their output. Only those agriculturists and manufacturers who were located on broad highways or deep waterways could wrest a fortune from their industry, because their markets were narrow and their profits necessarily small. But when the iron rails threaded the country commerce spread and developed and a new era of prosperity and wealth dawned.

But these new conditions can be maintained only by keeping pace with the development of the country, and in this race the railroads must ever play one of the most important parts, by furnishing the necessary transportation facilities for the constantly increasing crops and the gratification of the growing passion for travel on the part of the people. To fail to do this is to return to a degree to the old conditions, before the equilibrium had been even approximately established between the traffic demands and the transportation facilities of the railroads of the country. To reach and to maintain that equilibrium is demanded of the roads by the commercial interests of the country, and if they cannot meet that demand there will inevitably be a serious interruption of the habits of life and the occupations of millions of people.

POLITICAL EDUCATION.

Elections are a great deal of trouble and expense, but they are necessary and useful. We must govern ourselves or we shall be governed by other people. The greatest task we have is to escape being governed by covetous or ambitious men who organize "machines" to fortify themselves in power, and who make money out of their control of city councils and legislatures. The wise fathers of the republic told us that eternal vigilance was the price of liberty, and the commodity is no cheaper now than it was then.

Liberty is not in danger from the same forces as then, but it is in no less danger. If we should elect a set of officials and leave them undisturbed for 10, 15 or 20 years they would get to running the government as if it were their private property. The trouble with the great life insurance companies disclosed last year was that the trustees had lost all sense of accountability to the policy holders. It would not take long for our officials to lose all sense of accountability to the people. Frequent elections are absolutely necessary to keep alive this sense of official responsibility.

We are pretty busy with our immediate concerns and pay little attention to questions of public policy. Most of us pay no attention except during a political campaign. If these campaigns came only at remote intervals most of us would pay no attention at all to matters of government, and the political power from top to bottom would pass into the possession of men who gave all their attention to it and had no other business, because they made a business out of politics and grew rich out of it.

There is really no middle course between frequent elections and none at all. We must be governed by a bureaucracy, like that of Russia, or we must govern ourselves, and the latter involves giving some time and money and trouble to the job.

The result of the election in Newport is especially gratifying to the friends of Senator George Peabody Wetmore. His home town has spoken in an unmistakable tone in his support, and with this substantial backing and the assistance of the other representatives from Newport county, with many firm friends throughout the state among the successful Republican candidates for the legislature, Mr. Wetmore will undoubtedly be able to control the party caucus and be assured of his return to the Senate.

The defeat of Governor Utter is a matter for serious regret. He has been one of the best executives Rhode Island ever had, honest and independent in the discharge of his duties and faithful to the trust placed upon him. He will retire from office without a stain upon his personal or official character. Governor-elect Higgins will have in the retiring governor a model which it will be difficult for him to successfully follow, but which it will be well for him to attempt to follow.

The Democrats throughout the country made material gains in their Congressional representation, but this was to be expected, as many of the present Republican Congressmen were two years ago carried into office on the Roosevelt tidal wave in naturally Democratic districts.

Hypnotism as a science may properly be investigated and practiced, if need be by the medical profession, but as an exhibition on the public street, for children to gape and wonder at and probably dream of, it should not be allowed.

The lot of Governor-elect Higgins is not likely to be a happy one as chief executive of the state. The history of legislation will probably only be a repetition of the running fight between Governor Garvin and the Assembly.

Pennsylvania gave the usual Republican plurality, about 100,000 over the fusion candidates, in spite of a determined opposition. It is almost impossible for any one but a Republican to be elected in the Keystone state.

Benjamin Anthony, who died in New Bedford yesterday, had a remarkable record in his connection with the Evening Standard of that city, extending over fully half a century.

Portsmouth was true to her best interests yesterday, in voting "no license." The environment of Island Park is bad enough as it is, but with rum it would be unendurable.

The Republicans of Rhode Island nearly lost the house of representatives, but a plurality of two is better than none at all.

The plurality for Hughes in New York, 54,000, is quite substantial, but it was not the overwhelming defeat for Hearst which many persons desired.

There are still some things which even Hearst, and Hearst money, and Hearst methods, cannot accomplish.

A man would be hard to satisfy if he couldn't find anything to please in the results of yesterday's election.

And now for the municipal election—as soon as we catch our breath.

Hearst and Moran both beaten. It is well.

Uncle Joe Cannon got there, all right.

Is Hearstism dead?

BETTER NAVAL DOCKS.

A new type of dry dock may be adopted for the naval service, as a result of the discussion which has been going on among the naval experts as to the dimensions of the next ones to be built for the government at the navy yards. Provision has been made by Congress for a big dock at Puget Sound, and the civil engineers are now engaged on the plans for that structure with a view of making it sufficiently large to anticipate the battleships likely to be designed in the next 50 years. The constructors believe that the ship of 20,000 tons displacement represents the maximum size of the type, and that the changes which may be made in naval constructions hereafter will be such as make it possible to decrease the displacement, instead of requiring greater size.

It will be possible, for instance, to develop the turbine so as to lessen the weight of the machinery and gain speed—at least, there is a comfortable theory to that effect entertained by the naval engineers who have faith in American inventive genius. Then the improvement in ordnance may afford the opportunity to gain the required hitting power with the desired weight of projectiles by no addition to the number of guns in the main battery of the ship of the future. It is possible—remotely possible, it is admitted—that armor may be decreased in weight, although in this respect the advent of the submarine may require protection on the bottom of ships, as well as along the side, and so make up for the gain in weight in any other direction.

So far as this question bears upon the dimensions of the dry docks which may be built in the next year or two, it is pointed out that the principal thought must be for the beam, or width, of the structure, since an enlargement of the battleship type is likely to take into account the increase in the beam of the vessels. It is also proposed to meet the situation by building docks with the square end instead of the present shape, so that demands for docks of increased length may be fully accommodated by the simple extension of the dock. This system is regarded as perfectly feasible, and will undoubtedly be adopted in the next year or two.

EDISON AND THE PHONOGRAPH.

[Musical Age.]

Thomas A. Edison, in a recent interview, said:

"I believe that I do not amount to much as a musical critic. A few years ago, when the talking machine business was still a dubious proposition, a list of the new records was often handed me for approval. After hearing them, I would mark 'good,' 'fair' or 'rotten' against the compositions so as to class them for trade. The 'rotten' records always made a hit with the public. Now, all I have to do is to condemn a bit of music and the factory works overtime to supply the demand.

"The development of the phonograph business has been as great a surprise to me as it must be to you. I did not think much of it until a boy of mine—who was eight years old then—persisted in working the machine and breaking record after record. I said to my wife, 'If that kid is haunted by it, I guess there must be something in it.' And the result shows there was.

"While the possibilities are broad for the development of the phonograph business, it is hard to say what direction the next improvements will take. For one thing, the horn meets with objection. For another thing, there's that grating noise. There's also fault to be found here. I do not think the horn feature will ever be eliminated, though, of course, you can never tell. As for the grating buzz, that also seems to be one of the necessary faults of sound reproduction.

"I am still constantly experimenting with the phonograph. It is one of my loves. When I strike a snag along other lines, back to it I come. This shows, if anything, that I myself do not think it perfect. Its further development will be gradual, like all other things.

"We will soon be able to have opera producing-records, and these records will play for 40 minutes.

"There are changes going on in everything. There is no standstill in anything great. The phonograph, therefore, will broaden out into something beyond criticism in time."

METEORITE REPORTED OFF CAPE RACE.

Steamer St. Andrew from Antwerp and the new Hamburg-American liner Brazilia, reported seeing a meteorite off Cape Race, N. F., at 1:20 p. m. October 26. The captain of the St. Andrew said it was the most wonderful phenomenon he had seen in all his days at sea. It was visible to the naked eye, being scarcely a mile from the vessel. It fell into the sea. The crew of the Brazilia saw it falling, though that vessel was nearly two miles away.

RICHES IN BLACK SAND.

Placer Miners' Samples Yield Platinum in Paying, and Gold in Extraordinary Quantities.

If the wonderful progress thus far made is to be taken as an indication, the Twentieth bids fair to eclipse the Nineteenth century, esteemed the greatest in the history of man's acquirements and achievements; and not the least of these are the wrenching from nature of all important secrets she has hitherto successfully kept locked in her own bosom. Beneficent and wise, she has probably reserved them, though, for man's greater needs, and so, little by little, as he exhausts her more or less easily obtainable gifts, his rapidly broadening and deepening scientific quest is discovering in the by-products of human industry new sources of supply for the maintenance and progress of the race. The search does not always stop at the thing sought for, but frequently opens up to view others of even greater moment. Thus when the Japanese-Russian war menaced this country's platinum supply from the chief mines of the world, which are situated in the Ural mountains, on the borders of Siberia—they are controlled by a trust, which practically furnishes its product to the United States at its own price—and so greatly alarmed manufacturers that they petitioned Congress to instruct the Interior Department to look up platinum in the United States, little was dreamt of the wonderful effect this search would have upon the world's gold output.

But here a word as to platinum and its uses may not be out of place, since it will explain the readiness of the government to acquiesce in these demands, compliance with which has brought forth such great and unexpected results. Platinum is a steel gray metal, hard as iron, and yet quite malleable. With the exception of iridosmium it is the heaviest metal occurring in nature. Platinum does not amalgamate with quicksilver, is not dissolved by potassium cyanide when cold, and is not attacked by acids, except the mixture of nitric acid and hydrochloric acid, known as aqua regia. It is more difficult to melt than gold. It is used in all electric machinery—its coefficient of expansion is the same as glass, and it is the only metal which can carry the electric current through the globes of incandescent lamps—the hairlike wires that convey the fluid to the filaments in the bulbs are of platinum; it is also used in laboratories, for crucibles and other utensils to which its infusibility and its ability to resist acids peculiarly adapt it, and in dentistry, especially for the pins which attach porcelain teeth. It is alloyed with other metals for many purposes, and it is almost always more valuable than its weight in gold.

The examination conducted by the geological survey, then, was for platinum mainly, although it was hoped to discover, in quantities that would give them a commercial value, other minerals in the so-called "black sands" of placer mines. These black sands are the heaviest particles which are worn away, by abrasion of the elements, from the mineral-bearing rocks. Of course, all sands comes from rock—the better part, such as the white and light brown sands of our Atlantic shores, from quartz. These light-colored sands are scattered, also, throughout the country; many of them are in the West, where, however, they have mixed with them the black sand, though more often the latter lies in great beds apart. The dark color of the seashore on the Pacific coast, as seen from the ocean, is due to this black sand.

Space will not admit of following, step by step the progress of the geological survey in its search and experiments. It will suffice to explain, that in these, conducted under Dr. David T. Day, chief of division of mining and mineral resources, it gathered a large number of samples from placer miners in 31 states and territories and in Cuba, the interest shown being attested by the great quantity of samples and the wide extent of country from which they came. In an exhaustive series of laboratory tests a number of minerals useful in the arts, platinum in paying, and gold in extraordinary quantities were found in some of these samples. The department then prosecuted field work in some of the more promising placer regions thus indicated, and afterward it conducted a series of elaborate separation experiments with the black sand at the Lewis and Clark exposition at Portland, Oregon. The result of these amply demonstrated the tremendous value of these black sands to the country, those along several of the rivers of Colorado and of the Snake river, in Idaho and Oregon, being found to be especially rich in platinum and gold.

QUALITY THAT MAKES FOR ATHLETIC VICTORIES.

[Ralph D. Paine in Everybody's Magazine.]

Of the many thousands of vigorous Americans who compete each year in the sports of track, field and river, there survive a few, almost to be counted on one's fingers, that are called "champions" in their several orbits of athletic endeavor. They come in all sizes and shapes of human packages, these heroes of the cinder-path, the tennis court, the golf course, the prize ring, or the oar. Physically they have nothing at all in common by which the observer may hope to generalize regarding the essentials of a champion. Even in one field of sport, such as running, you will find six-footers of a toothpick architecture, spidery midgets, well-muscled young giants, and pudgy, big-waisted men, all enrolled in the lists of notable victors.

There is one inner quality, however, without which no athlete ever won and held a championship of any consequence, and that is courage, better known as "sand" or gameness. Not long ago James E. Sullivan, executive head of the American Amateur Athletic Union, was a guest at a White House luncheon, during which President Roosevelt said to him with emphatic earnestness:

"My boy Theodore, who played on the Harvard Freshman eleven last year, will never be a great football man. He hasn't the weight to measure up to the demands of the university teams of today. He played a pretty fair game against Yale, but what I liked was that after his collar bone was broken, he kept right on playing. That showed he was game. Yes, I liked that."

GETTING THE NEWS.

Big and Orderly Crowd Sees the Stereopticon Display.

How the Returns from Inside and Outside the City Came In—Some Questions Asked.

Tuesday afternoon the election proceeded as quietly and as smoothly as it had up to the time the News went to press. During the early hours it looked as though the total vote would show a big falling off, but as the close of the voting approached the workers were even busier than usual and there was so much hustling that when the final ballots had been cast the vote was but little short of that of a year ago. In actual figures it was 157 short, but as there were 65 less names on the list than at the election last year the proportion of votes cast was somewhat better than that. In view of the fact that there was no city election Tuesday, as there was a year ago, and consequently there were not the drawing qualities that a city election gives, the vote cast Tuesday may be called even larger than that of last year, though the total was a trifle smaller. The number of voters in each ward, the number voting, and not voting, was as follows:

Wards	On list	Voting	Not voting
2	1254	1090	164
3	998	831	167
4	940	717	223
5	993	773	220
Total	5106	4145	961

After the last ballot had fallen there was a wait until the first returns began to come in. The public generally had expected this, and some had expected that it would be longer than it was, forgetting that this year there was no city ticket to count and the ward officials would be able to give the returns complete at a much earlier hour than heretofore.

The first ward to be heard from was the Third, but it was only for a part of the ticket. The first ward whose complete returns reached the News office was the First, at 7:33. As straws show which way the wind blows, and as all straws blew the same way in Newport Tuesday, the returns from the First ward indicated how the city had gone. The last ward in was the Second, as was to be expected on account of the size of the vote. This was received, with the exception of the loan figures, at 8:45, and shortly thereafter the waiting multitude in front of the News office knew what the final figures were for Newport.

Then all interest seemed to centre on the rest of the state first, then on New York and afterward on Massachusetts. The second and third queries were answered quite well during the night, but the Rhode Island figures were unknown when the telegraph operators took their midnight luncheon and business so far as election returns ceased.

By this time the crowd had become tired and sleepy and the streets were well deserted, only a few enthusiasts hanging on in a vain hope that something definite would be received from Providence and the result as to Congressman and governor made known. The last that even the late comers know was that Dyer was probably elected to Congress and that Higgins had 6,000 for governor. Both these stories were today found to be incorrect, as some suspected last night they would be.

The crowd on the streets was generally orderly, the people being out to learn what had happened. Of course the small boy was on hand with a disposition to cheer anything that pleased him, and with tin cans and other noise-making devices, starting political parades regardless of who had won. Then there were a few young men, would-be "toughs," apparently, who took advantage of the occasion to make all the noise they could, simply for the sake of making a noise. Generally, however, the police report that things were pretty quiet.

There was the usual big crowd in front of the News office. It began to assemble early and remained until late, both inside and outside the office. The stereopticon pictures were shown on the screen, with the returns, and both as they pleased the crowd, were applauded. A rather lively wind and the vagaries of the "flatiron corner" helped make the screen rather an unstable object and the view of the pictures and returns was somewhat more limited at times than before the Government Landing was opened and the big wind was let in. Still, a large number of people had a good view of the screen. A special detail of police was on hand to keep a way open for pedestrians and the crowd was good-natured and allowed pedestrians to pass quite easily.

In anticipation of the crowd assembling to view the bulletin service in front of the News office, Superintendent Aylsworth of the Gas Company had some pipes and other material which had been left in that section moved away before the day closed, so that when the crowd assembled the street was clear. Manager Bergman of the Newport One Price Clothing Company allowed the front of that store to be eclipsed, so that the screen for the News returns might be shown.

The man behind the telephone in a newspaper office on election night has some funny questions to answer. Of course it is an easy thing to tell a person in the afternoon, who says he knows that the voting is still in progress, why it cannot be told who is elected. The reason that it is so easy is because the question is so frequent. Another question often asked is why the returns from a certain locality, which perhaps has not even been thought of by the man at the telephone, have not made their appearance.

While some are so desirous of having made known to them the impossible details, others are perfectly satisfied to have read to them a despatch which says that so many voting districts out of so many in a large state have given the candidates so many votes. If one were thoroughly familiar with the vote of the state, and was informed as to just what districts had been received, perhaps such a report might mean something to a person who would devote the time to analyze it.

The News endeavors to give to all inquirers the best information it has on hand and do not purposely "jolly one along" because he asks a question which may seem to be heavily weighted with comedy. Of this kind there were many inquiries last night as to who had been elected mayor. The first call caused the operator to ask "Of what city," not supposing that Newport was meant. But it was, as the person had not realized that the new charter changed conditions in the municipal

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

Delay in Delivering a Dustless Cleaning Machine, and the Wrong Size Sent.

The superior court opened at 11:16 this morning, Judge Sweetland presiding.

The following were called for jury duty: Charles H. Wilkie, George C. Manchester, Charles H. Cook, Charles A. Hambly, Frederick W. Castino, Peleg D. Humphrey, Albert H. Hambly, William T. Wood, Arthur E. Manchester, Daniel Hannon, of Tiverton; Nahum Greene, Frank N. Greene, Edward R. Anthony, Samuel C. Spooner, William M. Carter, Albert S. Dennis, of Portsmouth; John A. Sanford, M. L. Silvia, Eugene Hart, John Sisson, James P. Simmons, of Little Compton; Edward N. Wyatt, Charles A. Peckham, Charles Peckham, Isaac Dennis, of Middletown; Hugh McGuire, M. C. Hall, of Jamestown; Lowell H. Dickens, Edwin A. Dodge, Eugene R. Millikin, Thomas H. Mott, Benjamin T. Coe, of New Shoreham.

They were a fine-looking set of men. Upon examination, it appeared that Albert H. Hambly had served within two years and he was excused. William M. Carter, Albertis S. Dennis and M. L. Silvia were excused to December 4. Mr. Hall of Jamestown was excused from serving, being in the government employ.

The Underwood will case was not taken up, and it is understood that it is settled.

Henry J. Jones vs. Compressed Air House Cleaning Company was given to the following jury: Peleg D. Humphrey of Tiverton, foreman; James P. Simmons, Little Compton; Arthur E. Manchester, Tiverton; Hugh McGuire, Jamestown; Charles Peckham, Middletown; Frank W. Green, Samuel C. Spooner, Portsmouth; William T. Wood, Frederick W. Castino, Charles A. Hambly, Jr., Charles H. Cook, Tiverton; Eugene R. Millikin, New Shoreham.

Mr. Levy appeared for plaintiff, who is of Newport, and Judge Burke for defendant, which is of St. Louis. The case is to recover for damages in delay in sending a certain machine and for sending a larger size than the one ordered.

Mr. Levy opened for plaintiff. All jurors not on the panel were excused to December 4 at 11:15 a. m.

Mr. Jones testified. He identified a catalogue which he received from defendant. He ordered a dustless method machine, by correspondence, and read letters received from defendant. The air compressor was to be shipped from the factory in Cincinnati. He received a bill for $450. There was also a draft for that amount dated March 24, 1906. The goods had not arrived, but witness was told it was a sight draft, and must be paid that day. He paid it, although he had then never seen the goods. He had received a blue print and by it a foundation with concrete pier, post, etc., was put in. He had purchased a "6 by 6" machine, and he had everything in readiness for that, including a friction pulley costing in the neighborhood of $50.

There was some telegraphing. One despatch said: "Sorry factory made error. Railroad instructed today to deliver to you at Newport." It was learned that part of the freight was addressed to Providence. Witness went to Providence twice, paid freight bills in Providence, and finally the machine arrived here. Some part of the order did not arrive until after April; the rest was directed to Providence. The compressor could not be put in the space for it. Defendant was notified by telegram.

Witness went to St. Louis. On returning he found a telegram, saying: "6 by 6 shipped, return 8 by 8." Witness also read a letter explaining that a larger machine, costing $75 more than he had ordered, had been sent as an advertisement; it would be exchanged if he desired. The 6 by 6 was finally received, about May 5. Witness paid the freight charges on this and for carting. (There was some question as to what freight charges witness might testify about). The 8 by 8 was taken to the freight depot, the bill of lading for it was exchanged for that of the 6 by 6 at the bank, and in exchange for the bill of lading for the 6 by 6 that machine was obtained at the freight depot. It was then too late to use the machine.

Witness had to have his carpet cleaning done by somebody else, causing a loss to witness. He also estimated that he could have done much more business in that line if he had had the machine. They could not advertise it. Witness estimated his losses at $5 a day. He went to St. Louis because his letter was not answered; he wanted to get some "head or tail" of the business. He estimated the expenses of the trip at $75. He was also six days away from his business. He received $23 from defendant while in St. Louis. (Witness was not allowed to say whether the 6 by 6 did the work it was claimed it would do; there was no claim for damages, under this head, in the declaration).

It being about 1 o'clock, a recess was taken for dinner.

FINED FOR CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

Today Officer John A. Hazard of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals had three prisoners before the district court, and all were fined. There was a fourth warrant, but it was found that it was for a second man for the same offense, and as there was no wish to do more than show that cruelty to animals will not be allowed when the officers can secure the proper evidence the other warrant was not served. Walter E. Peckham of Fall River, for driving a horse unfit to be driven; Rufus F. Peckham of Little Compton, for causing a horse unfit fit for work to be worked, and Stephen B. Wilbur of Little Compton, for working a horse unfit to be worked, were the three prisoners. Each pleaded guilty and each was fined $10 and costs, $12.60 each, which was paid.

influences, counsel was sure the countess would return to her husband.

Counsel described the countess's generous offer to settle $30,000 a year on the count for life, which he rejected because it did not include a full settlement of his outstanding debts. The count wanted $50,000 a year and the settlement of all his debts. The countess wanted to provide for the father of her children, but she now stood on her rights.

There was a flutter of excitement just before counsel closed his summing up, when he refered to a forgery in the possession of the other side, designed to "blacken the character" of a prominent attorney and a man conspicuous in public life. But Maitre Cruppi said he would not pursue the matter unless compelled to do so, and concluded with the claim that his case had been made out an he made a glowing appeal against calling witnesses, which, he said, would only bring disaster and ruin upon others.

The court then took a recess.

As for the tales of servants and chauffeurs, Maitre Bonnet said he classed such evidence as a comedy and consequently he insisted on the examination of witnesses, which would permit the tribunal to judge of their credibility.

Maitre Bonnet's attack on Mr. Kelly was particularly vicious, charging him with suborning witnesses. He Bonnet did not attack the countess, but on the contrary spoke of her intellect. Before counsel for the count had concluded the court adjourned until tomorrow.

A WHITE PERSON'S PROTEST.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Dear Sir: May I follow up Dr. Wheatland's letter in your issue of yesterday with a word of sympathy and agreement?

I was indeed shocked and surprised when reading the circular of the singing class to come across the word (white) written thus. Aside from missing the chance of adding some good singers to their class, the originators of this plan certainly were lacking in the milk of human kindness. Such methods are anti-New England.

Very truly yours,
A (White) Person.

MODJESKA'S LADY MACBETH.

The interest in the state election had but little effect on the size of the audience which attended the farewell performance of Madame Helena Modjeska at the Opera House last evening. It was an audience in keeping with the well known ability of the actress and the equally known quality of the play. Madame Modjeska selected "Macbeth," because of its more general popularity and the better opportunities it affords for the display of the highest dramatic abilities. It is a rather gruesome play, all tragedy and practically no comedy to relieve the intensity of the theme it portrays, and naturally the audience was not enthusiastic in its expression of approval, but the earnestness of the attention given to every spoken word and every detail of scenic action showed that the excellent work of the star and her company was appreciated.

Modjeska's Lady Macbeth is one of great power, showing in the various parts of the play the widely varying traits which the great playwright centered in this character. Charles D. Herman made an excellent Macbeth, depicting the cowardly king with ability and appreciation. Thomas R. Mills as Malcolm and Frederick Montague as Macduff were especially good and the minor characters were in capable hands.

LITTLE BOY'S AWFUL ECZEMA

For Two Years He Could Not Sit Nor Lie Still—Suffered Terribly with Pain and Itching—Scratched Till Flesh Was Raw—Grew Worse Under Doctor's Care.

SPEEDILY CURED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"When my boy was six years old he suffered terribly with eczema. He could neither sit still nor lie in bed quiet, for the itching was dreadful. He would irritate spots by scratching with his nails, and that only made it worse. Nothing gave him any relief until I used the Cuticura Remedies, and I cannot praise them too much. A doctor treated him, and we tried almost everything, but the eczema seemed to spread. It started in a small place on the lower extremities and spread for two years until it very nearly covered the back part of his leg to the knee.

"Finally I got Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, and gave them according to directions. I used them first in the morning, and that evening before I put my boy to bed I used them again, and the improvement even in those few hours was surprising, the inflammation seemed to be so much less. I used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, the same of the Pills and the Soap, and my boy was cured. He has never had a return of the eczema since. I hope you will publish my letter so the public will know what Cuticura has done for my boy. (signed) Mrs. A. J. Cochran, Jr., 1823 Columbia Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., April 13, 1905."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for every Humor, from Pimples to Scrofula, from Infancy to Age, consisting of Cuticura Soap, 25c., Ointment, 50c., Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), may be had of all druggists. A single set often cures. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. COMPULSORY KISSING.

Curious Laws in England and Austria Which Make the Osculatory Art Obligatory.

[Answers.]

The ethics and practice of kissing, which are certainly centuries old, are not matters to be discussed in such an article as this. Our aim is rather to interest the reader by giving him some information as to places where kissing is enforced by law—written or unwritten—in a compulsory way.

The ... country town of Hungerford, in Berkshire, has an annual kiss... every each April, when it celebrates ... Hocktide festival. Then ... appointed officials hold a ... the tithes and claim a kiss ... woman of each house they ... visit during the ceremony. The ... fortunate officials thus appointed are known as "tutty men," or tithing men, and usually there is no small competition for the honor among the ... of Hungerford. The custom is ... years old, and neither hus... as a rule, objects to the ...

... of N... has ... the habit of holding a festival known as "barge day," on which day the mayor and corporation go down to the river in a fine state barge to claim the rights of the town to certain dues at an appointed spot. Then the procession returns ... to a well-known ... the mayor selects any woman he likes from the large crowd generally gathered there, and kisses her before the assembled company, and—let it be said softly—before the good mayoress herself! His worship then gives the favored woman a sovereign as a present, while the mayoress, to show that there is no ill feeling, adds a gift of her own, such as a satchel, purse or other appropriate article.

Not only is it the duty of the mayor to do the kissing in this fashion, but the appointed sheriff, not willing to be left out in the cold on such occasions, also duly carries out a similar privilege. He chooses another lady and, after saluting her gravely—or otherwise—he also hands to her a useful present. This curious ceremony, which is supposed to take place quinquennially, was last performed in the year 1901; but of course it always rests with the mayor for the time being as to whether it shall be carried out or not.

When the pretty Thames town of Maidenhead takes it into its head to have a "beating of the bounds," the steward appointed for that purpose is always accompanied by a large crowd of curious people. These help him, or think they do, when he has to climb over houses which stand in his path, or to get through windows under which the bounds pass; also, when the party meets any man by chance during its progress it proceeds gravely to "bump" that individual, but, if the person met is a lady, she is given the choice as to whether she will be "bumped" or kissed.

Nor is England the only one with such compulsory kissing ceremonies. Halmagen, in Austria, has an annual fair on St. Theodore's day, at which every man present has the right to claim one lady and to kiss her, without her having any right to object. This strange custom is the outcome of a raid which was once made on the town by Turkish brigands, who carried off all the women as captives. But a band of men traveling in the district chanced to meet the captors, and forced them to give up their victims, who were then kindly escorted to their homes and friends. In grateful remembrance of the day the maidens of Halmagen annually offer their lips modestly and freely to the strangers who frequent the town during the fair of St. Theodore.

THE GAS MAIN AT THE PARADE CORNER.

As the gas company nears the Parade corner with the new main, it approaches a difficulty of considerable proportions in the presence of the Thames street sewer. The men have been meeting troubles all along, but now have been obliged to sink a test hole at the corner, to permit them to study out a plan. The sewer at this point is close to the top of the roadway and the gas pipes take a dip under it. The street is as narrow as in any part of its length, with the sewer about in the centre. It is pretty narrow working to go on either side, and turns and twists are to be avoided as much as possible. The difficulty here encountered will form a fitting climax to the run through Thames street.

MRS. LADENBURG THROWN IN DRAG HUNT.

Mrs. Adolf Ladenburg was thrown when riding in a drag hunt of the Meadow Brook Club at Hempstead, Long Island, yesterday, but she escaped serious injury. The mishap occurred ... was jumpy. ... she was unmounted. She held the bridle reins and was dragged a few yards before she could stop the animal. Although she was bruised, she quickly remounted and came in at the finish. She went to her home in Westbury afterward. She is an expert rider.

This was originally a pantomime in England, but has been developed into a massive musical extravaganza for production in this country. It is now on tour after a phenomenal run at the Broadway Theatre, New York, where it ... played an entire season to packed houses.

—Richard D. Graham was assaulted at a late hour last night on West Broadway by three young men whom he claims that he recognized. They knocked him down, blacked his eyes, cut his head and face and kicked him. Graham, accompanied by friends, called at the police station and stated that his assailants were William Kirby, Patrick Smith and Florence Sheehan. As Chief Crowley is out of town warrants will not be served until tomorrow morning.

LINCOLN'S SELF-CONTROL.

Gave Up Lesser Things, Believing No Man Could Afford Time for Personal Contention.

[St. Nicholas]

The keynote of President Lincoln's young life had been persevering industry; that of his mature years was self-control and generous forgiveness; and surely his remark on the night of his second election for President, that he did not think resentment "paid," and that no man had time to spend half his life in quarrels, was well borne out by the fruit of his actions. It was this spirit alone which made possible much that he was able to accomplish. His rule of conduct toward all men is summed up in a letter of reprimand that it became his duty, while he was President, to send to one young officer accused of quarreling with another. It deserves to be written in letters of gold on the walls of every school and college throughout the land.

"The advice of a father to his son, 'beware of entrance to a quarrel, but being in, bear it that the opposed may beware of thee,' is good, but not the best. Quarrel not at all. No man resolved to make the most of himself can spare time for personal contention. Still less can he afford to take all the consequences, including the vitiating of his temper and the loss of self-control. Yield larger things to which you can show no more than equal right, and yield lesser ones, though clearly your own. Better give your path to a dog than be bitten by him in contesting for the right. Even killing the dog would not cure the bite."

It was this willingness of his to give up the "lesser things," and even the things to which he could claim an equal right, which kept peace in his cabinet, made up of men of strong wills and conflicting natures. Their devotion to the Union, great as it was, would not have sufficed in such a strangely assorted official family; but his unfailing kindness and good sense led him to overlook many things that another man might have regarded as deliberate insults, while his great tact and knowledge of human nature enabled him to bring out the best in people about him, and at times to turn their very weaknesses into sources of strength. It made it possible for him to keep the regard of every one of them. Before he had been in office a month it had transformed Secretary Seward from his rival into his lasting friend. It made a warm friend out of the blunt, positive, hot-tempered Edwin M. Stanton, who became Secretary of War in place of Mr. Cameron. He was a man of strong will and great endurance, and give his department a record for hard and effective work that it would be difficult to equal. Many stories are told of the disrespect he showed the President and the cross purposes at which they labored. The truth is that they understood each other perfectly on all important matters, and worked together through three busy, trying years with ever-increasing affection and regard. The President's kindly humor forgave his Secretary many blunt speeches. "Stanton says I am a fool?" he is reported to have asked a busybody who came fleet-footed to tell him of the Secretary's hasty comment on an order of little moment. "Stanton says I am a fool? Well"—with a whimsical glance at his informant—"then I suppose I must be. Stanton is nearly always right." Knowing that Stanton was "nearly always right," it made little difference to his chief what he might say in the heat of momentary annoyance.

DO NOT BE A BURDEN.

Wright & Hay Give Some Good Advice to Readers of the Daily News.

A Weak Stomach and Its Resulting Ills Are Not Natural. With Proper Care and the Use of Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets, the Very Worst Case of Indigestion or Stomach Trouble Can be Completely Cured.

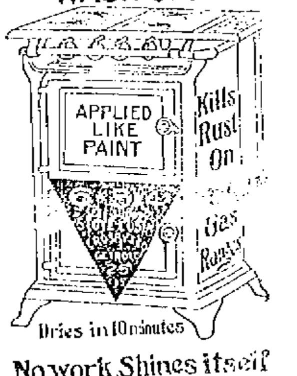

It is a sin to deprive oneself of enjoyment in life and become a burden to others through indigestion.

The backaches, headaches, distress after eating, loss of appetite, gulping up of undigested food and gases are not natural. Mi-o-na stomach tablets used for a few days before meals will so strengthen the digestive organs that you can eat anything you want without fear of distress or resulting sickness.

The directions for taking Mi-o-na emphasize the difference between this remedy and the ordinary medicine that is given for indigestion. Mi-o-na is to be used before meals, strengthening the digestive system for the food which is to be eaten, while the ordinary remedy is taken after meals, and simply digests the food without strengthening the stomach.

Wright & Hay have so much faith in the merit of Mi-o-na that they sell it under a guarantee to refund the money in case it does not cure. A 50-cent box of Mi-o-na will do more real good than a dozen packages of the ordinary remedies sold for indigestion. Then, too, it costs nothing unless it cures.

CENTRAL'S HEROINES.

May be Depended Upon to Rise to Any Emergency.

Keenness of Intelligence and Quickness of Wit Developed in Telephone Operators.

It is said when a telephone operator is portrayed as a heroine it is on account of some pretty romance started by Cupid, who is commonly represented as sitting on a telephone wire, with his fat little legs swinging in the space. But the real heroine of the telephone operators is the ... who, when occasion demands, puts in practice what she has learned by conducting herself calmly and ... The training schools maintained by the large Bell companies so ... the intelligent girl that in ... times she will be of the greatest possible service, not only to her ... but to the public in general. A few months ago the 40 girls at work on the night shift at the Morningside exchange in New York city were frightened to find smoke entering the room. Under ordinary circumstances other girls, similarly situated, would have rushed about and ... precipitated themselves into a ... but in this case the young ..., though naturally somewhat ..., went on with their work. ... they got word from the superintendent that the fire was next door, and amounted to nothing; and though the ... responding to the alarm ... a great hullabaloo outside, and ... engines threw up much smoke, and ... crowd did a great deal of shouting, ... the operators went on answering ... the same as usual. Not for a ... was the regular midnight business of the exchange interrupted.

This was a very matter-of-fact example of the discipline shown by Bell operators in general. However, now and then the coolness and the courage of telephone operators are severely ... In fact, operators have ... passed through moments that would try the bravest man's soul. An incident illustrating this happened not ... ago at Hagerstown, Ind., where, ... dead of night, the solitary operator ... the little telephone exchange on the ... floor of a bank building sat at ... switchboard and warned subscriber ... subscriber that a gang of burglars was destroying the vaults in the ... below. In fact, the telephone is one of the greatest enemies of the burglar, instead of being his assistant, as it is sometimes represented.

There are many examples of the ... and intelligence displayed by ... operators in the case of fire. ... the last session of Congress, ... telephone wires were heavy ... important messages flashing ... the capital, the main exchange of the Bell company there was the scene of a fire that for a time threatened to assume grave proportions, but, though the firemen plied the axe and ... the hose not far away, and though the smoke rolled over the switchboard and made the girls cry ... got into their eyes, the service ... on uninterruptedly. In the exchange serving the district nearest the scene of disaster there was an increase in daily calls of about 20 per cent. which lasted three days, yet so well trained was the force of operators handling these calls that it was found necessary to add only two to the number.

"Central" is more than a demure young lady with a charming voice. She is a well-educated, well-trained and singularly faithful servant of the public at large, and she may be depended upon to rise to any emergency.

MURAL DECORATION FOR NEWARK COURTHOUSE.

A large mural decoration by Kenyon Cox for the supreme court room of the Essex county courthouse, in Newark, will presently be put in place. Its title is "Under the Rule of Law, Inspired by Justice, Peace and Prosperity Abide."

Law, the central figure, is depicted enthroned and crowned, a sceptre in her hand and a book of law in her lap. Peace is leaning on the figure of Law and looking up to Justice, a figure floating down from heaven.

In the immediate foreground is a figure of Prosperity, or Abundance, distributing the fruits of the earth to a group of children. The whole is put in a classic architectural setting in a pleasant landscape.

Mr. Cox has tried to carry out in the coloring the distinction between the heavenly and the earthly figures, Justice being in blue and white, the colors of the sky, and the other figures in rich, warm tones. The model for the face of the flying figure of Justice was Miss Ethel Barrymore.

Other artists who have been busy on mural decorations for the Essex county courthouse are Edwin Howland Blashfield, Will H. Low, C. Y. Turner, George W. Maynard, Frank D. Millet, H. O. Walker and Howard Pyle. The architect is Cass Gilbert.

TELEGRAPHER INVENTS PHONETIC SYSTEM OF SPELLING.

A system of reformed phonetic English spelling, making radical changes in the present alphabet, will be presented to President Roosevelt and Andrew Carnegie by Congressman John J. Esch. The system is the invention of Philip B. Lehmann of La Crosse, once a school teacher and for 15 years a telegraph operator, from the codes of which he conceived a sort of stenographic reform in the English language.

The new phonetic system makes the written language correspond exactly with the spoken language, the old alphabet of 26 letters having been increased to 43 letters, of which 38 letters and five combinations constitute the oral elements in the spoken language.

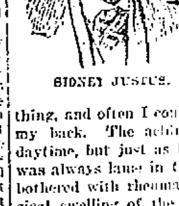

The author of the system says Andrew Carnegie is foolishly wasting his thousands on a method incorrect, because it is impossible to express 43 or more sounds with 26 letters. With a short course of study, Lehmann says the English language can be learned perfectly by his system of orthography, whereas it is seldom thoroughly learned under the old method. The author is confident that the President and Mr. Carnegie will endorse the system when it is laid before them by Congressman Esch, and is planning to interest the national board of education and other authorities with a view to having the system generally adopted.

AN OLD MAN'S TRIBUTE.

An Ohio Fruit Raiser, 78 Years Old, Cured of a Terrible Case After Ten Years of Suffering.

When suffering daily torture
From backache, rheumatic pain,
Any ill of kidneys or bladder,
Turn to Doan's Kidney Pills.
A cure endorsed by thousands.
Read an old man's tribute.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

SIDNEY JUSTUS.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Justus will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

THE RHODE ISLAND CITIES.

Providence and Woonsocket Elect Democratic Mayors—Pawtucket and Central Falls Republican.

The result of the Providence mayoralty contest was a victory for P. J. McCarthy, Democratic nominee, who captured the city by about 1,500. The city council is as usual largely Republican.

The Pawtucket city election fight resulted in the election of Robert A. Kenyon, Republican, by a fair plurality. The Assembly delegation is without a doubt Democratic. The school committee will probably be Republican. Mayor Higgins received a handsome vote in his home city. The Third ward elected a Republican city council ticket for the first time since the redistricting act, and was due to the fusion between the Republicans and a faction of the Democrats who were dissatisfied with Alderman McCaughey. This makes the entire city council Republican.

The Democrats swept Woonsocket, their candidate for mayor and the entire Assembly ticket with one exception being elected by safe pluralities. The Republicans had been confident of the election of Candidate William O. Park, while the Democrats had made equally strong claims, although the general impression was that Mr. Park would win. The defeat of ex-Mayor Greene, who was Democratic candidate for Assemblyman, by a small plurality, was a testimony to the popularity of Oscar A. Bennett. The city council will be as usual Republican. The First, Second, Fourth and Fifth wards elected full Republican delegations to the city council and the Third a full Democratic delegation. The total vote was one of the largest in proportion to the number of eligible voters polled in a number of years.

Joseph W. Freeman, Republican, was elected mayor of Central Falls by a plurality of 636. The Assembly ticket was Democratic and Mayor Higgins received a handsome vote, making large gains over the vote of last year. The school committee is Republican. The First, Second, Third and Fourth wards elected Republican council tickets and the Fifth elected a Democratic alderman by a plurality of three. One Republican city councilman was elected and one Democrat.

WHY CHAUCER IS NOT POPULAR IN SOCIETY.

[Harper's Weekly.]

A new anecdote of James Whitcomb Riley was told recently. Mr. Riley, it appears, is extremely averse to social functions. He was, however, induced to attend a "literary" dinner in Indianapolis given in honor of a novelist of that city. Riley had been told off to take in to dinner the sister of his host, an excellent woman, though anything but "literary."

The conversation touching upon the beauties of Chaucer, about whom a certain set of the city was then cultivating a fad, a spirited discussion ensued, during which the bewildered sister caught from time to time only the name "Chaucer."

At last she whispered to Riley: "Who is this Mr. Chaucer they're talking about so much? Is he very popular in society?"

"Madam," solemnly responded Riley, "that man did something that forever shuts him out of society!"

"Heavens!" exclaimed the worthy dame; "and what was that?"

"He died several hundred years ago," said Riley.

THE MAGIC NUMBER NINE.

A professor in Cambridge University, England, has written out the following calculations about the number 9. They are interesting, and if any High School scholars who have an arithmetical tendency are inclined to check the figures it will give them a pleasant recreation:

1 times 9 plus 2 equals 11.
12 times 9 plus 3 equals 111.
123 times 9 plus 4 equals 1,111.
1234 times 9 plus 5 equals 11,111.
12,345 times 9 plus 6 equals 111,111.
123,456 times 9 plus 7 equals 1,111,111.
1,234,567 times 9 plus 8 equals 11,111,111.
12,345,678 times 9 plus 9 equals 111,111,111.

INCREASE IN EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

Exports of iron and steel manufactures show an increase of about 25 per cent in the nine months ending with September, and imports of iron and steel manufactures show also an increase of practically 25 per cent in the same period, when compared with the corresponding months of the preceding year. Exports of all domestic products increased meantime but about 13 per cent and the total imports but about 9 per cent.

TALK BUT LITTLE BUSINESS.

city had owned the fee in the land on which the railroad was built from here to Tiverton. Mr. Burdick, when city solicitor, had looked into the matter and said the land belonged to the railroad, though no deeds were on file and the fee is still in the city. Of course it is of no use to the city and should be in the railroad, but even if he thought the city were bound to contract to execute a deed which it had not given he would not give an opinion without looking up the matter. He suggested that it might be referred to him and he would report at the next meeting, and this was done.

There was another resolution, directing the committee on streets and highways to advertise for bids for the collection of garbage from January 1, 1907, local bidders only, and award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder for one, three or five years. This resolution was passed. Mr. Franc suggested that this was a good time for the committee to try to secure a separation of the garbage. It is now difficult to secure locations for the disposition of garbage. The Board of Health has arranged with the present contractor to try a separation of garbage in the Thames Street district. Garbage is separated with good results in other places, and should be in Newport.

The report of the street commissioner for five weeks ending October 27 shows expenditures of $10,957.91 for labor and $2,716.73 for material, a total of $13,674.67.

The special committee appointed because it was thought the Old Colony Street Railroad Company was not running cars to the beach reported that it had consulted the officials of the company and had been informed that the company would run cars to the beach to November 15, and perhaps to December 1, and at any time when there is a demand thereafter, when there is skating, after a storm or a public demand; that cars would run on a 15-minute schedule to connect with the other line, and that it would notify the City Council if it proposed to make any change in its beach line schedule. The report was received.

The committee on burial grounds reported recommending that the Council accept $100 for the care of the W. H. Underwood burial ground and $291 for the care of the W. H. Congdon burial ground, and that G. P. Taylor be granted leave to withdraw his petition for the acceptance of $50 for the care of the James Taylor burial ground. Resolutions in accordance with the report were passed.

The special committee on the stone quarry matter reported that it had made an investigation into the matter of the taking of stone reported by Mayor Garrettson. The stenographic report of the evidence taken was appended, covering 62 pages. It found that there was no evidence of the taking of any stone other than on August 18 and 19. Two loads were taken on the eighteenth and six on the nineteenth. They were borrowed from the city wrecker without the knowledge of the street commissioner, and afterward returned. There was nothing improper in the taking of this stone, and nothing, in the opinion of the committee, which calls for further action by the Council. The report was received. Mr. Rogers of the Common Council suggested that the evidence ought to be read, and President Gladding said that Mr. Rogers could take some quiet Sunday to go through the 62 pages.

The quarterly report of the Poll Commission and the monthly report of the inspector of nuisances were received.

The report of the trustees of the People's Library, announcing the election of C. A. Brackett as a trustee, was received and the election was approved and confirmed.

On the suggestion of Alderman Kelly that there were complaints, he would like to tell about one of the estates, the entire matter was referred to the finance committee.

A resolution was passed fixing Wednesday, November 21, at 8 o'clock, for canvassing the voting lists, and Wednesday, November 28, at 8 o'clock, for completing the canvass for the municipal election.

The appraisal of damages by dogs to sheep of William Bailey of Middletown 25 sheep killed, $150, and 13 sheep bitten, $50, making a total, with fees and mileage, of $209.70, was received and the bill ordered paid from the dog fund, according to law.

A Comfortable Coat.

There is more than a suggestion of snug comfort in the woolen coat illustrated. Designed especially to meet the needs of the small girl's playtimes, it is planned to come to the shoetops, affording protection to the legs, yet not offering any interference to swiftness in running or playing. Front and back are cut with a deep yoke, extended in plastron fashion to the hem, while on either side of this extension the pleats necessary to form fulness are introduced. Any of the modish cloakings will make up well after this design, and this season there is quite a fancy for reds, relieved with a little touch—just the slightest—of black velvet and braid. All the way from a brilliant scarlet into a deep Burgundy the reds are liked for the little maid, and a more warm and cheerful coloring, becoming alike to blonde and brunette, could not be selected. The coat of the picture is in a deep, rich, wine red. The flat collar that finishes the neck—efforts are made to "harden" the little folks' throat nowadays—has a bias fold of velvet, and a slightly waved band of gild braid, so, also the cuffs. The large buttons that make the double-breasted fastening are duplicated in smaller sizes to trim the collar and cuff and the hem is sufficiently deep to allow of letting down.

THE PRESIDENT'S QUARTERS ON THE LOUISIANA.

After Thursday the capital of the United States will be on the new battleship Louisiana, and when President Roosevelt sails for Panama that day he will have the finest quarters ever fitted up on an American man of war. The Navy Department has left nothing undone for his convenience and comfort on this trip and with the aid of the powerful wireless apparatus, which has been installed he will be in constant communication with Washington.

The work of refitting the ship for the President's trip has been done at the New York navy yard, and the finishing touches were put on her yesterday, so that she is ready to sail for Hampton Roads, where she will take on her supplies. New furniture has been installed, the article being a large, new desk, where the official papers will be kept during the trip.

The President's quarters will occupy nearly one-quarter of the space of the deck, and have been made by tearing out doors and throwing the quarters of the admiral and captain into one suite. They are separated from the rest of the ship by a temporary bulkhead, and the President will have as much privacy as he would have in the White House.

The smoking room, where the President will attend to his official business, is in the stern of the battleship. There is a large reception room, where the state dinners will be held when the President entertains the representatives of other governments, and a large living room for the accommodation of the party. The admiral's quarters will be used as the President's state room, and Mrs. Roosevelt will occupy a large state room designed for the admiral's chief of staff. There are six other state rooms and bath rooms for the other members of the party.

DISCHARGED WITHOUT HONOR.

Colored Soldiers Debarred from Service by President Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—By order of President Roosevelt, acting upon a report made to him by Brigadier General E. A. Garlington, inspector general of the army, every man of Companies B, C and D of the Twenty-fifth infantry, a colored organization, will be discharged without honor from the army and forever debarred from reenlisting in the army or the navy, as well as from employment by the government in any civil capacity.

The President in his order, which is given through the Secretary of War, says:

"I have read through General Garlington's report, dated October 22, submitted to me by you. I direct that the recommendations of General Garlington be complied with, and that at the same time the concluding portion of his report be published without sanction as giving the reasons for the action."

The action is one of the most drastic ever taken by the President and is sure to cause a sensation throughout the service. The refusal of members of the battalion to give to General Garlington, or their immediate superiors, the names of the men implicated in the shooting of citizens at Brownsville, Tex., near Fort Brown, where the troops were stationed August 13, led the inspector general to recommend the discharge of all of the men, and the President concurred. It is an example for the enlisted personnel of the service which will doubtless have a good effect.

August 13 some of the enlisted men of the battalion which is to be summarily punished engaged in a disturbance in Brownsville for no particular reason, so far as the investigation shows. The outbreak resulted in the killing of one citizen, and the chief of police of the town was so badly wounded that he lost an arm. The case dragged along, and finally General Garlington went to Texas to make a personal investigation. The men were given a full opportunity to tell all that it is reasonable to believe they know concerning the shooting. It was impossible to fix the guilt.

General Garlington says in his report that the men appear to stand together to resist the detection of the guilty, and that for this reason they should stand together when the penalty falls.

BRUCE DEFEATS CHANLER.

Republican Candidate for Lieutenant Governor Elected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—According to returns available to 3 p. m. today, M. Linn Bruce, the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, seems to have been elected over Lewis S. Chandler, Democrat, and Independence League. The results as to the subordinate offices on the Republican and Democratic tickets cannot be definitely known until the official count.

REPUBLICAN TICKET ELECTED.

Claim Made by William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—William Barnes, Jr., of Albany issued a formal statement this afternoon, claiming the election of the entire Republican ticket in the state.

The statement says: "The entire Republican state ticket has been elected. My figures show this. The state gives 145,000 plurality, or thereabouts, and the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor has approximately 135,000. You may say for me that the entire state ticket has been elected."

Republican State Chairman Woodruff, in commenting on the prospect of success for the remainder of the state ticket, aside from governor, said:

"There seems to be some doubt about the remainder of the state ticket, but I have a feeling of confidence in this regard. I am waiting now for final figures."

MORAN DEFEATED BY 31,000.

Balance of Massachusetts Republican Ticket Re-Elected.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—A revision of the figures in yesterday's state election did not affect the Republican victory, the complete returns placing Governor Guild's plurality over District Attorney John B. Moran, his Democratic opponent, at 31,662, while Lieutenant Governor Draper defeated his opponent, E. Gerry Brown of Brockton, on the ticket, by a margin of 9,779 votes.

Eleven Republican Congressmen were also elected by substantial pluralities except in two districts, while the three Democratic Congressmen who won received a strong endorsement.

The Democrats made a gain of three in the senate, but the lower branch of the legislature will remain the same as last year the division being, Senate, 28 Republicans; 12 Democrats; house, 175 Republicans, 65 Democrats. No Socialists were elected to the legislature this year.

The balance of the Republican state ticket, including Secretary of State William M. Olin, Treasurer A. B. Chapin, Auditor Henry E. Turner and Attorney General Dana A. Malone, was also re-elected. The executive council remains the same as in the past decade, seven Republicans and one Democrat.

The total vote of the governor was: Guild (Repn.) 222,073, Moran (Dem.) 191,011. The vote for lieutenant governor was: Draper (Repn.) 200,625, Brown (Dem.) 190,849.

BY PLURALITY OF OVER 10,000.

Republican Candidate for Governor in Nebraska Elected.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 7.—George L. Sheldon, Republican, is elected governor of Nebraska by a plurality of from 10,000 to 18,000, and carries with him probably the entire Republican state ticket.

The Republican state central committee claims five of the six Congressmen and a majority of 37 on joint ballot in the legislature, insuring a Republican successor to United States Senator Millard. Democratic state headquarters do not concede the Republican claims.

REPUBLICAN CONGRESS ASSURED

Democrats Have Gained 23 Districts in Election.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Roosevelt's appeal for a Republican Congress was not in vain. With the count still going on the result so far shows the election of 211 Republican Congressmen, 155 Democrats, with 20 districts to be heard from. There are 386 seats to be filled in the house, and should the Democrats get the remaining 20, they would still not have the control.

The most sanguine prediction put out by Chairman Sherman was that the Republicans would retain control of the House by 60.

As the returns stand now the Democrats have gained 23 districts held in the present Congress by Republicans as follows: Illinois 2, Indiana 1, Iowa 1, Missouri 4, Nebraska 1, New Jersey 3, New York 1, North Carolina 1, Ohio 3, Pennsylvania 5, and Wisconson 1.

In Illinois the defeated Republicans are Reeves and Dickson, in Indiana, Fulkerson, Ellis, Weimtaoletnohomn Cromer, in Iowa Lacey, in Missouri Fulkerson, Ellis, Welborn and Caulkins; in Nebraska Kennedy, in New York Wadsworth, in New Jersey Pickett, in North Carolina Blackburn, in Ohio Douglas beat Grosvenor for the Republican nomination, in Wisconsin Babcock gives his seat to a Democrat, in Pennsylvania Dale, Palmer and Samuel. The Republicans gained the Third Kentucky district, where A. D. James defeated Representative Richardson. This is the only Republican gain so far reported.

Speaker Cannon received his usual 15,000 majority and comes back to Congress for the seventeenth time. The fight against Representative Dalzell of Pittsburg was futile, as Mr. Dalzell was re-elected with a reduced majority. Mr. Wadsworth, who is chairman of the House committee on agriculture, was defeated by Peter A. Porter, who announced himself first as an Independent Republican and attacked Mr. Wadsworth's record of the meat inspection legislation. He was endorsed by both the Democrats and Independence League.

CANNOT SUSTAIN CHARGES.

Arraignment of Chinese Smugglers Objected to by District Attorney Wilson.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 7.—Until he can see more clearly into the conspiracy charges lodged against 12 of the Chinese captured on board of the smuggling schooner Frolic, District Attorney Charles A. Wilson cannot have the celestials tried on that charge. This was the day set for their arraignment and United States Chinese Immigration Inspector Augustus P. Schell was down from Boston, but the district attorney objected to the arraignment. Mr. Schell will endeavor to put the cases before the court tomorrow.

STOCK MARKET WEAK.

Rumors of Increase in Bank of England Discount Rate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Persistent rumors of an increase in the Bank of England discount rate tomorrow and general apprehension as to money conditions, locally, produced a weak opening of the stock market, with severe losses in a number of active issues. The monetary situation more than nullified the effect of the election, although leading financial interests were pleased at the return of a Republican majority to Congress.

Stocks were practically without support at the opening, and losses ranging from a point to two points were registered by more than half a score of the speculative favorites. The local traction stocks were among the weakest issues. London allowed its attitude at home by further selling in this market. Sales for various out of town points were reported, and the trading element was almost unanimously inclined toward to the short side.

HANAHAN TO SUCCEED FISH.

It was stated at the Illinois Central offices today that the change in the presidency will take effect immediately. It is expected that Mr. Harahan as president will continue to have his headquarters in Chicago.

STEAMER MAINE IN COLLISION.

Runs Into Car Float on Her Way Down East River.

Captain Strikes Submerged Rock in Beaching Vessel.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Steamer Maine, a freight boat of the Providence line, collided with a car float near Hell Gate while on her way down the East river from Providence this morning, and was so badly damaged that she was beached on Manhattan island at Eighty-sixth street. No lives were lost.

The force of the collision was so great that the heavy, steel plates of the Maine were knocked in for about five feet, the deck was smashed and the windows broken. Several freight cars on the float upset and she broke loose from the tug. When Captain Hazard beached his vessel he ran her on a submerged rock and she went bow high out of the water. Under the stern the water is 110 feet deep. Tugs are working on the steamer trying to draw her off the rock.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. Wall Street—The stock market opened weak, with Amalgamated Copper at 112, American Locomotive 74½, American Smelting 156, Anaconda 272½, Atchison 101¾, Baltimore & Ohio 119⅝, Brooklyn Transit 81½, Canadian 175⅜, Colorado Fuel & Iron 53¾, Great Northern preferred 323, Erie 44¼, Louisville 143, Missouri Pacific 91¼, New York Central 125⅝, Northern Pacific 214⅝, Norfolk & Western 94, Pennsylvania 140, Reading 147, Rock Island 28¾, Southern Railway 33⅝, Southern Pacific 93⅝, Sugar 134, St. Paul 172, Union Pacific 182¾, United States Steel 47⅝, United States Steel preferred 104½, ex. div.

10—Stocks in London were selling at wide declines from Monday's prices here when trading began in New York. The opening was weak and some sharp losses were shown, but supporting measures were effective in a few stocks. These only showed small gains, however. Among the principal losses were Delaware & Hudson 2¾, Northern Pacific 2, Pennsylvania 1¾, Interborough Metropolitan 2⅜, Canadian Pacific 1¾ and Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, St. Paul, Louisville & Nashville, Baltimore & Ohio, United States Steel preferred, ex div., and Smelting about a point, and a number of prominent stocks large fractions. Prices showed a declining tendency after the opening.

11—The market, after numerous irregular fluctuations, finally settled to a lower basis with the pressure quite evenly distributed among all of the prominent stocks. There were occasional rallies but they were not followed up with any vigor.

Noon—Money on call, firm, nominally at 6 @ 7 per cent; prime mercantile paper 6 @ ½ per cent. A spurt in Hill stocks induced a general rally in sympathy, which wiped out a large part of the declines. Later Reading weakened again and carried the list backwards with it to a lower level than before. Bonds were heavy.

DEFEATED THE HILLSIDES.

Rangers Toro Their Line and Circled the Ends for Long Gains.

The Ranger football team had no trouble in scoring on the team from the Hillside Athletic Club of Fall River in the game at Freebody Park yesterday afternoon and won by the score of 27 to 0. Both elevens were about the same weight, but the home team found nothing to stop them from tearing through the opposing line, and circling the ends for long gains on all kinds of trick plays. The forward pass was worked for long gains time after time by the Rangers, but when the boys from the Spindle City tried the play it fell into the hands of one of the locals who made long gains each time. Curry made 40 yards for a touchdown.

All the local players covered themselves with glory, in both the offence and defense. Curry, Quarry, West, Nason and Roach were effective in pushing the ball for the Rangers, and on the defense the work of Quarry, Champion, Curry and West was good. The local boys have not had their goal line crossed this season, and from the style of playing they are showing it will take a fast team to spoil their record. The line-up follows:

INJURED IN RUNAWAY.

While James Morris, colored, of Levin street, a driver for Fred Burton, was mounting his cab on Bath road about 10:30 last night, his horse started to run, and in attempting to stop him he was thrown to the ground and rendered unconscious. The horse ran through Bath road and Bellevue avenue, where he was stopped at the corner of DeBlois street by Officer Leary, who drove back and found the man lying in the street.

The officer drove to the Police Station, where the injured man received medical treatment and a number of stitches were taken in a severe scalp wound. Later he was removed to his home.

FRELINGHUYSEN—HAVEMEYER ENGAGEMENT.

Announcement has been made to relatives and a few intimate friends by Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Havemeyer of the engagement of their elder daughter, Miss Adaline Havemeyer, to Mr. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, of New York and Morristown, N. J.

Miss Havemeyer was introduced to society two seasons ago and is a great favorite. She will be the only attendant at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Louisine Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Peters, to Mr. Harold H. Weekes, next Wednesday, in Grace Church.

Mr. Frelinghuysen is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Frelinghuysen, of Morristown and New York, and is a grandson of the late Frederick Frelinghuysen, who was in President Grant's cabinet. He is a member of the Union Club. No date has been announced for the wedding.

DEATH OF MRS. JOSHUA.

Mrs. Sarah E. Sayer, widow of Joshua Sayer of this city, died suddenly this morning at the home of her brother, Mr. George T. Finch, in Yonkers, N. Y. Mrs. Sayer had made her home for some time with her son, Mr. William D. Sayer in this city, but last autumn removed to Yonkers to be with her brother and her sister, Miss Mary E. Finch. She had been in failing health for some time, but the news of her death was received here in a telegram, but a short time after a letter which she had herself written and which gave no indication of any change for the worse in her condition.

Mrs. Sayer was the eldest child of the late Benjamin and Mary Hall (Tilley) Finch and had lived her entire life until the last few months in Newport. She was for many years a member of Trinity Church and as long as her health permitted was deeply interested in its many activities, holding prominent positions in the various parish societies. She leaves one son, Mr. William D. Sayer, and her brother and sister, who live in Yonkers. The body will be brought here for interment.

THE BLOCK ISLAND ELECTION.

Block Island yesterday voted for the secret ballot in town elections by the following vote: Yes, 198; no, 151. This move is a victory by the Littlefield forces. The vote was taken in secret ballot at the polls yesterday. Hitherto, by reason of the Champlin influence, Block Island has been unique in that it was the only town of the State in which the public ballot remained for town officers.

Henry K. Littlefield was elected steamboat commissioner for a term of seven years. The present town council was re-elected by a majority of from one to three votes.

The vote for senator was Littlefield, Republican and Democrat, 265; Champlin, Independent, 203; plurality for Littlefield, 1. For representative, Lewis, Independent, 245; Hall, Republican and Democrat, 202; plurality for Lewis 11.

This is a split victory, the Champlinites losing the Senatorship and securing the Representative. The town gave a plurality of 18 for Higgins over Utter for governor, and a plurality of 24 for Granger over Dyer for Congress.

STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN.

Newport Gave Good Pluralities for Party Candidates.

Entire State and Legislative Tickets Elected by Unusually Large Margins.

Newport gave pluralities for all the Republican candidates in the election yesterday, giving Governor Utter 161, Mayor Dyer for Congress 214, Senator Sanborn 488 and the candidates on the representative ticket from 656 to 659.

The total vote cast in the city was 4,145, nearly 200 smaller than in the election last November, when the contest for municipal officers brought out a larger ballot. The largest vote counted was 4,020, for the candidates for governor. Of these Governor Utter received 2,071, Mr. Higgins 1,910 and the others were scattered among the nominees of the other parties. The vote for Congressman was 3,952, of which Mayor Dyer received 2,109 and Congressman Granger 1,862.

The vote for the Assembly was decidedly in favor of Senator Wetmore. The lowest vote on the Republican legislative ticket, that for senator, is 149 more than was cast for Governor Utter, and the highest, that for first representative is 334 larger than the gubernatorial candidate received. The pluralities for the Republican Assembly nominees range from 327 to 478 higher than Governor Utter received. It is evident from these figures that a large number of Democrats, who voted against Governor Utter, voted for the Republican legislative candidates because of their desire to give Senator Wetmore a large vote and a consequent better standing before the General Assembly when the ballot is taken for United States Senator.

This is better shown by comparing the votes of last year and yesterday for the Republican and Democratic candidates. Senator Sanborn gained 169 over his last year's vote and his opponent this year had 315 less than Colonel Clarke received last year, making a net gain for Sanborn of 484 votes. For first representative Bassett also polled 169 more than last year and his opponent had 277 less than his opponent of last year, making a net gain of 446. For second representative Burlingame received 137 more than last year and his opponent 257 less than his opponent of last year, a net gain for Burlingame of 394. For third representative Franklin received 131 more than in 1905 and his opponent 227 less than his opponent of last year, a net gain for Franklin of 362. For fourth representative Burdick had 138 more than in 1905 and his opponent 270 less than his opponent received last year, making a net gain for Burdick of 408. Every ward in the city showed Republican gains and Democratic losses on the legislative ticket, showing that the desire for Senator Wetmore's return to the Senate is general in all sections of the city.

Only about two thirds of the voters who went to the polls in Newport cared enough about the proposed loan for a metropolitan park system to mark either "approve" or "reject." Of the 2,461 votes cast, 1,000 ballots were in favor of the proposition and 1,461 against it, a majority of 461 to reject.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Returns Indicate a Small Republican Majority in the House—Make-Up of Legislature.

Returns from the General Assembly election at an early hour this morning indicate that the Democrats will have nine Senators and 31 Representatives in the next legislature, or a total of 13 in the grand committee of 110 members, considerably less than a majority of that body. Of the remaining members one independent was elected from Tiverton and one from Middletown, over the regular Republican nominees, and one independent Representative from New Shoreham.

The Providence Democratic-Lincoln Assembly ticket was elected by a sweeping plurality of probably over 2,000. Returns from the Blackstone Valley indicate an almost complete Democratic victory from Pawtucket to Woonsocket. In the latter city Representative Oscar A. Bennett, Republican, appears to have been re-elected, with the rest of the delegation probably Democratic. Cumberland returned a full Democratic delegation, with probably Lincoln, Central Falls and Pawtucket.

The city of Newport went strongly Republican on the General Assembly ticket.

The Democrats elected their candidates for Senator and Representative in Burrillville, and their Senator and two Representatives in Cumberland.

The town of Warwick, which was confidently claimed by the Democrats, went straight Republican on the Assembly vote. Senator Stiness and the four Representatives with him on the ticket being elected.

Ex-Senator Champlin was defeated in the town of New Shoreham by Senator Littlefield by four votes, 200 to 205. Representative Schuyler C. Ball, Senator Littlefield's running mate, was defeated by Ray G. Lewis, by 213 to 202. Mr. Littlefield ran on both the Democratic and Republican tickets, while Mr. Lewis was elected as an independent.

The Republican Assembly ticket in East Greenwich was elected, Representative Samuel W. K. Allen defeating Thomas H. Galvin by a safe margin.

The Republicans elected both their candidates for Senator and Representative in North Smithfield, and the same result was attained in the town of Smithfield. They also carried their Assembly ticket in Barrington. Charlestown, Exeter, Foster, Gloucester, Hopkinton, Jamestown, Johnston, Little Compton, Narragansett, North Kingstown, Portsmouth, Richmond and Warren.

East Providence elected a Republican Senator and one Representative. The three-cornered fight for Second Representative resulted in a victory for Charles L. Hazard, Democrat and Lincoln candidate.

The Republicans elected their entire ticket of one Senator and three Representatives in the town of Cranston by greatly reduced pluralities.

In North Providence the Democratic and Lincoln ticket for General Assembly was defeated by the Republican ticket, although claims are made that the victory was accomplished with the aid of irregular voting.

Scituate went Democratic, though this did not affect the General Assembly ticket, as the candidates for Senator and Representative were named on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

The Democrats carried South Kingstown for their candidates for both Senator and Representative. In Tiverton William L. Frost, who ran for Senator on Citizens' nomination papers against George R. Lawton, the regular Republican nominee, was elected.

In Middletown the Republicans elected their Senator, while their candidate for Representative, Lionel H. Peabody, was defeated by Howard R. Peckham, who ran on an independent ticket for Representative.

GETTING THE NEWS.

campaign. It was the same with the bulletin board service, which was carefully scanned for information always found before but of course lacking this time.

The replies by telephone on such a night are necessarily as brief as possible and not intended as "short answers," because there are so many of them that usually when one gets the line another is waiting for it. It is of course regretted by the News that last night it was impossible to give more information regarding the state ticket, but since it was hours after midnight when the Providence papers went to press, and then they did not have full details, one can see that before midnight any reliable sizing up of the situation was impossible. There is a night coming when conditions promise to be even worse, and that is next month, at the city election. Some people may stay up until they know who is elected, but it is probable that most of them will be worn out while the count is yet young.

ANOTHER REPRESENTATIVE COUNCIL CANDIDATE.

The state election being over, the voters now have time to give attention to the municipal campaign and candidates may be expected to appear about any time and from any quarter. Some would-be statesmen thought it would be well to let the state campaign wear itself out before making their bow as candidates to the voters of their wards. The first of these to put in a nomination paper after the election is David B. Allen, whose paper is in today. He is running from the Second ward for two years for the Representative Council.

A German town is about to make an experiment in the direction of running perforated pipes along the streets by the side of the curbstone. Whenever there is need for it the water will be turned on for a few minutes and a beautiful spray will be thrown from each side of the street into the roadway.
